THE SUMMER SCHOOL OF LAW IN ENGLAND: ITS ORIGIN AND PURPOSE

The College of William and Mary in Virginia has had significant relationships with England throughout its history. The College was chartered in 1693 by the reigning sovereigns, William and Mary, whose name it bears. The College's first building was constructed in 1695 from plans attributed to the renowned English architect, Sir Christopher Wren, builder of St. Paul's Cathedral in London. Through the efforts of Thomas Jefferson, an alumnus of the College, a chair of Law and Police was established December 4, 1779, thus making William and Mary the first to offer instruction in law in the United States.

In more recent years the College's continuing relationship with England and its educational institutions has been evidenced by an active student and faculty exchange program, and by establishment of the Summer School of Law in England in 1967 on the campus of the University of Exeter in Devonshire.

The William and Mary Summer School of Law in England was the first and is still the most extensive American program of summer law study abroad. Consonant with the proud heritage of the College, the goal of the program is to provide law instruction in the finest tradition of liberal education. A broad, attractive curriculum is taught by a large faculty of British and American teachers, expert in their fields. Concurrently, the academic and social associations with British members of the legal profession and students from other countries, and the opportunity to learn the legal, political and social practices of British society through living and travelling in England, provide a uniquely rich cultural experience for the American law student. Over one thousand future lawyers from virtually every accredited law school in the nation have attended the William and Mary Summer Law School in England. There they secured a decidely broader "world view" of the law and their role as lawyers. This broadening of intellectual perspective is the hallmark of a liberal education, and the alumni of this program have carried that broadened perspective into the practice of law, business and politics. The Marshall-Wythe School of Law is proud of this unique educational service to the nation.

Distinguished members of the faculty of Exeter University School of Law teach some of the courses offered. The program has been further enriched by prominent speakers from the English Bench and Bar, as well as a clerking course with British firms.

CURRICULUM AND CREDITS

The Summer Law School in England, as an extension of the Williamsburg campus, is fully accredited. The 1985 program will consist of one five-week term with ten courses. Class meetings and duration of classes will be in accordance with the requirements of the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools. Regular class attendance will be expected. A maximum course load is six semester hours. Residence credit will be given commensurate with the number of semester hours credit carried. The Marshall-Wythe School of Law will give the same credits as if the course were being offered on the Williamsburg campus. Law schools having students at previous sessions have approved the transfer of credits for the courses taken by their students. It is urged, however, that registrants clear this matter with their Dean's office at time of application to the program.

ACADEMIC NOTES

The law faculty of the University of Exeter established in 1972 the Centre for European Legal Studies primarily to coordinate teaching, research and training of practicing lawyers in European Economic Community law. Its broader objectives are to develop a systematic study of civil law, comparative and international law. It offers advanced work leading to the LL. M. degree, and its general program is expected to be systematically coordinated with the work of the Summer School of Law. The University of Exeter School of Law has pioneered in this area, and its courses have attracted wide attention from members of the British Bar.

Storefront in Exeter

Among the faculty members selected for the annual summer school of law are specialists in such subjects as international public and private law, international business transactions, civil law, and comparative law. Professor Dominik, Lasok, Director of the Centre, is an internationally recognized authority on European law, having written some 110 articles on Comparative and International Law and European Community Law as well as ten volumes as author, co-author and editor. He has been a visiting lecturer and visiting professor at various universities, including Vanderbilt, McGill, University of Michigan, William and Mary, Rennes, Aix-Marsaille, and College of Europe, Bruges, Belgium.

Professor David L. Perrott, a prolific writer with more than thirty articles to his credit, is an expert in the field of International Commercial Law of Commerce as well as Sudanese personal property law. He has taught at several universities, including the University of Illinois, University of Connecticut, St. Louis University, McGeorge School of Law and University of Salzburg, Austria, and has been on the faculty of the University of Exeter since 1965. He has been consultant to the British Government and the Commission of the EC on proposed, and the workings of existing, commercial legislation.

Professor Peter A. Stone, on the faculty of the University of Exeter since 1969, has written numerous articles on topics such as patent licenses, conflict of laws and European community law. He is currently writing, jointly with Professor Lasok, a book on "Private International Law in the European Community."

Professor Peter G. Zuereb has been a lecturer at the University of Exeter and at Ealing College of Higher Education, and practiced law in Malta. He is the co-founder and first chairman of the U.K. Company Law Society and the author of articles in the field of international law.

One of the objectives of the Summer School of Law in England is to provide an understanding of the common law system, in the mother country of the common law. In addition to basic course work in the English legal system, many of the American law courses in the same curriculum emphasize comparisons with English law.

The legal clerking course affords the student an insight into the British practitioner's daily routine in the various aspects of the practice, including research, client consultation and courtroom experience. Discussion of the legal issues involved in the cases being handled gives the student the benefit of the British approach to legal analysis.

CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

Exeter is an attractive and ancient cathedral city only 12 miles from the beaches of the South Devon coast. The Cathedral is a superb example of the Decorated Gothic Style (1280-1370), with Norman transept towers unique in England. The Guildhall dates from the Middle Ages, having been rebuilt in 1330. Inns and pubs, including one frequented by Charles Dickens, abound. Excellent theatre and music programs are also available. Various social and cultural activities are sponsored by the Summer Law School.

In Exeter, in Devonshire, and in the surrounding counties of Southwest England are many historic sites within short distances that date from Roman times (200 A.D.) through the Middle Ages, the Norman Conquest and the Elizabethan era.

Day trips by bus at reasonable rates are available to Dartmouth, Dartmoor, and other interesting sites in Devon. Weekend trips are also available to Penzance (Cornwall's principal town), Bath, Tintagel Castle (believed to be King Arthur's castle), St. Ives, and Stonehenge. Direct, fast train service to London is available several times daily. Classes are scheduled Monday through Thursday; thus, three day weekends will be available for extended sightseeing trips.

Organized, but optional, tours are arranged by the program: on a Saturday a chartered bus trip to Plymouth, and on a Sunday a boat trip on the river Dart. A three day weekend trip to London, affording a visit to the City and its historic, political and legal sites, is also arranged on an optional basis. The cost of these trips is not included in the fees.

Tennis courts, a swimming pool, a student pub, a game room (modest fee for use of equipment), a television room, and a large student lounge are provided for the students' use. Students from other countries also are on campus at Exeter during the summer.

A limited number of off-campus housing facilities are available. Though within walking distance of the University, they are modest by American standards but are low priced. Students must make arrangements for off-campus housing by corresponding directly with individual landlords. A list of off-campus housing is furnished to registering students.

Five partial tuition scholarships in the amount of $300 each will be awarded solely on the basis of academic performance. TUITION AND EXPENSES

Notwithstanding a high inflation rate in Britain, we were able to convince the University of Exeter authorities to hold the room and board fees approximately to the same level as that of the prior year. In terms of dollars, this resulted in a reduction of this fee, due to the favorable exchange rate! These actions are in keeping with our traditional objective of offering our program at the most reasonable charges to enable the greatest number of students to participate.
