SLA Kidnaps Beloved Dean; Sichta Leads Ransom Efforts

(AC, May 7) Dean James P. Whyte, chief administrator of Marshall-Wythe School of Law at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va., was kidnapped late last Monday evening by three hooded dwarfs who entered the Drug Fair (not Drug Store) and accosted the Dean as he stood in a long line of customers. Dean Whyte was on his way to the SBA Banquet when he was abducted.

Dean Whyte, according to a witness to the crime, was abducted while standing sixth in line at the cosmetics counter of the Drug Fair. The witness, who refused to be identified, explained to reporters that customers go to the cosmetics or photo counter for “super-fast” service.

Federal Bureau of Investigation officials from the Norge division dany that they know of the location at which the unknown persons are questioning Dean Whyte, despite reports yesterday in two Tidewater newspapers to the contrary. The newspapers, the Tidewater Trash and the Newport News Nitty Gritty, reported yesterday that FBI Director Clarence Smelley had told regional FBI agents that the specific location of the kidnapped Dean and the identity of the abductors had been determined by an exhaustive search of restroom graffiti in the law school.

According to these reports, the abductors were identified as Robert Quadrows, an escapee from Virginia Pediatric Institution, Charles “Burrough” Burr, an unsought escapee from the University of Virginia ROTC, and normally cloistered; and Jeanne Hickcox, a William and Mary graduate who is considered the heretical “head of the band of urban guerrillas.”

Quadrows, Burr, and Hickcox, having little humor in the reported, filed libel actions in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia against the two newspapers this morning. The newspapers issued a joint statement contending that their reports were protected by New York Times v. Sullivan. Quadrows, after finding out what New York Times v. Sullivan was, responded, “We’re going to get their ass.”

As noted, Dean Whyte was abducted at a cashier counter. One witness who agreed to be identified, Vernon Edmonds, told reporters that the Dean dropped a six-pack of Rolling Rock beer, a bottle of Grecian Formula 69, and a copy of the May Penthouse as he tried futilely to fight off his assailants.

Edmonds said the three took a screenshot of Dean Whyte and to a waiting Honda Civic, and that the car then headed toward the Shopping Center exit. Mrs. Whyte, Mr. Whyte’s wife, received a ransom demand from the abductors, who call themselves the Syphilite Liberation Army. A White House spokesman attached to a rock found in the living room of the Whyte home. The SLA demanded a $100,000 ransom payment as a show of good faith, and set a deadline of May 10. Numerous campus organizations offered immediate assistance. Tommy Graves, College President, announced in a Wigwam press conference that his office would contribute moral assistance. Jim Reese, former editor of the Flat Hat, W&M’s undergraduate rag, offered to substitute Dwight Burrell, Reese’s successor, for the Dean. Associate Dean Timothy J. Sullivan, who is serving as Acting Dean in Whyte’s absence, smilingly refused comment, as did Acting Associate Dean Anne Forbes. SBA President Nettie Bailes offered her services. George Campbell, room to be a has-been, mumbled some polysyllabic gibberish.

Edward R. Blumberg, outgoing president of M-W’s International Law Society, and Bob Sichta, the brain behind the Forum Conference, joined to organize a fund-raising drive toward the $100,000 demand. Sichta promised to raise $50,000 in three days. After four days, Sichta and Blumberg have raised $71 cents.

Early this morning, students reported that Dean Whyte had been among four strangers who streaked the Wigwam during the breakfast rush. One student, Garry R. “Woody” Winn, told reporters that the Dean was a “willing participant in the streak, and he left something in my ice tea, too.” Attorney General Sacksbee, whose efforts have been so successful recently, announced that the Dean was now a common criminal, and leased the FBI on Williamsburg to search and destroy.

Mrs. Whyte, interrupted by reporters at a party in her home, expressed dismay and envy at the new reports. “I do hope those terrible dwarfs let my Jimmy go. The garbage is really piling up and there’s no one to take care of it now.”

Graves Reveals M-W Shift To Beautiful Campus Site

College President Thomas Graves shocked the law school community yesterday when he announced, with a wry smile, that a new law school complex had been secretly completed and was now ready for occupancy by the students of Marshall-Wythe. Graves said that the high level of secrecy was necessary in order to surprise the law school and to graphically illustrate the high regard the College administration has for M-W.

Graves also explained the secrecy as necessary to guard against other law schools within the state trying to copy the new complex which Graves called, “...the most modern, up-to-date facility to be used by any law school in the east.”

Graves revealed that the $1,960,678,436,789.03 necessary to construct the new complex was obtained by Executive Vice-President of the College, Carter Sacksbee.

Dean’s Absence Highlights Peaceable Student Bar Fete

In spite of the fears of the greatest rumors, the rumored confrontation between recently kidnapped Dean James P. Whyte and his groupies, Okerksie, winner of the SBA Outsider Award, never materialized. The SBA Awards Banquet took place without incident. It has been rumored that Okerksie would challenge Whyte to a duel of honor using rolls supplied by the SBA’s Krotch Brothers. SBA President Nettie Bailes had issued a statement imploring the two prospective combatants to restrain themselves. Bailes had stated, “My God, I don’t know how they could even think of such a thing in this day and age. Whyte was the only one to miss the Dean and hit one of the innocent guests who will be there.”

When it was pointed out to Ms. Bailes that the attendance would be those who were getting recognition and they, in the past, have left immediately after receiving their own award, she retorted, “Well, I certainly can’t leave until it’s all over — although I’d like to, of course. So we do have the safety of myself and my groups to consider, and I can’t subject any of us to the hazards of a roll sight between Whyte and Okerksie.”

The rumored confrontation actually was a harmless little show staged last week on the Golden Horsey Horse Golf Course. Although this did not result in a confrontation between Whyte and Okerksie, most sources consulted reported that Okerksie had been enraged when Whyte drove into a See Awards Banquet, p. 6

James B. Murray, Jr. — now a has been — leads the crowd of his followers to the site of the new law building. Murray credited his hard and diligent efforts with prompting the move, and gave special thanks to Gov. Godwin and President Graves.

$1,960,678,436,789.03 necessary to construct the new complex was obtained by Executive Vice-President of the College, Carter Sacksbee.

Editorials

Affirmative Action Vital

This is the last issue of the Animus for this academic year, and so the theme that last issue was our last issue, but this last issue is our last issue. And we plan to make the most of it.

In our recent issues, we have had some of the nicest, most interesting, most rational, most wholesome editorial materials you or I have ever seen. We don’t like that kind of garbage any more than you do. So we’re now going to tell you what we here on the Editorial Bored think are some additional Law books, including a goodie Golden Book on the U.N., and shuffling in and out between interviews, really think.

We think it stinks. It’s utterly deplorable. It is unacceptable. But think of the blandness and mediocrity every time we think of that. The utter pomposity of the situation is something that should never be seen in a law school, not to mention that. We have a fine heritage to safeguard, and it is inconceivable that this con be considered at all compatible with the heritage the Virginia legislature has so long fostered.

It is time for all students, faculty, administrators, and Law Review types to join together and stand fast in support. As Abraham Lincoln said in Springfield, Illinois, “In unity, there is strength.” There is none alone can change the course, yet every alone will be all alone. You may think the Animus stinks. We think you’re much less than that. But if we don’t share what should be everyone’s concern, we must cut the crap and start uniting in a common cause. If something isn’t done soon, something will be done later.

Eschew Affirmative Vital

Always recognizing that inclusive is the morphic predicate of enlightenment, we, the majority decision handed down by the Editorial Bored and proclaimed in the vertical-continuous space in the column. Readers, hark and eschew, mine is the cogent capitalization of a cranial crystallized.

First, the spurious reasoning of the other editor misses the mark; it is not that we are encompassed in the maniacal grasp of depredation as it would have you believe. It is that we have allowed ourselves to be propelled into cataclysmic catharsis, not caring to roast or toast or dine with the majority decision handed down by the Editorial Bored and proclaimed in the vertical-continuous space in the column. Readers, hark and eschew, mine is the cogent capitalization of a cranial crystallized.

The Animus wishes to devote this final issue to the unappreciated people who spend so much time making life a little easier for Law Students - The Maintenance Staff.

At Marshall-Wythe the Law School, we never seem to see the folks who wash the brooms and mops and clean for you and me. They pick up cigarette butts, they wash the windows clean, they dust the shelves and mop the floor. They’re crucial as the Dean.

We sometimes walk right by them and fail to say hello. But if they did not do their job we would have no place to go.

The work they do is needed, important to the school. Without the maintenance staff at work, life would be too cruel.

We’re in the Law School daily and the prospect just is frightening of coming here without the help of Frances, Dorothy and Lightnin’, Robert Frosty.

To the Editor

I would like to commend the Animus Curiae for the marvelous contributions the editorial has made this year to the legal environment here at the Law School. The Anims has evaded its pralimordial existence from its pralimordial existence when it was a cranial conundrum for the student faction and has reached the plateau of preeminence. This singular achievement is due solely to the hours of toil and sweat which those that direct the course of the Anims have dedicated to the students, faculty, administrators, wives, children, grandparents, Shadracks, Meshacks, and Abendigos of the law school.

As the year has drawn to a close, there are some that deserve to be commended for the broad base of support they have given the Anims. The faculty has demonstrated its concern for the Anonymous and has agreed to continue to be a forum for the open exchange of opinion. These must continue to be the backbone of the Anims. The Freshman Class has also continued their support and a sign of things to come.

Once again, my congratulatons to those who are responsible for the excellence of the Anims this year. It is unlikely that those who take the helm of the S.S. Anims in the years to come can do as fine a job as has been done this year by the number one man in charge. George Campbell

New Editor’s Note: Wanna bet?

To the Editor:

As a member of the Law Review I feel obligated to respond to all of the snotty correspondence that has been found in the last issue of the Anims regarding the seemingly immovable fault of the Law School.

We are not crooks. We are not the effete snobs we are cracked to be. We are not the effete snobs who cannot afford to take the Editorial Board to Hardsee’s every night spins on our office door.

Listen, you bloodclots. We are cool. Just because you are not allowed to use the private restroom off of Pop Swindler’s office, you use the Animus to obfuscate us with the truences of rank ignorance. We need that place to oil our videos about stuff like “Labor Law and the American Gopher,” and “The Frightening Effects of Nose-Picking.”

Let me tell you why we are as beleaguered as we are. Someone has told us that he would not go to the parties Law Review throws if everyone and the last uncle is allowed to attend. He wants a selective group, who can discuss the financial crisis of the country, on a footnote a great. Also, you must remember the policy reasons for keeping the Animus as a forum for the excellence of the law school. If everyone were on Law Review, firms would not know who to hire. As it is, the Animus is the only course left to pursue before we shuffle off this mortal coil and pervert the transcendent trespasses of the Brighter Light. We are all Prometheus bound to the boulder, we must not turn asunder if the gormeric gods of gaudiness must go for gold.

OPU Effort Eschewed

Jeez, our colleague O.P.U. somehow has missed the point entirely. Oracle at Delphi and Medula Oblongata notwithstanding, there is no way that O.P.U. is the proper one. Such a course would cause more problems than it would solve. And as for what Dean Whyte said, who cares? He’s in the clutches of the SLA and that should keep him occupied.

Fusion is not the answer, either. Roberta Flack disputed this thesis in her recent tract, “Jessie and the First Time.” O.P.U. is far too involved and so lacking in the ability to get into his ear lobes, O.P.U., always the hot shot with the big words, tantalizes us with such beasts as catharsis, con­tagious, and eschew. Eschew you, O.P.U. This menace threatening the law school must be confronted directly and strongly. Marshmallows are not enough. We must go that extra miles. We must throw in something more than a caveat, but it beats sublimation of our puerile instincts.

Eschew Effort Ubiquitous

Come on felias. Once again your pseudo-intellectual, agrarian herds of midget morphemes motivates mortals to
Scott Describes M-W Exit As A Titanic Experience

The class that entered Marshall-Wythe in 1965 included the usual mixture of bright and not so bright, the young and not so young. And it included three graduates of Oberlin College. Some people even dropped out along the way. Another finished second in the class. And the third became Professor Robert E. Scott. Bob Scott has been at this school practically ever since (save for a year for graduate work and a year as a visiting professor at the University of Virginia) But now he is leaving Marshall-Wythe. He has accepted a professorship at the University of Virginia (which is located in Charlottesville), and will pack up his first edition U.C.C., his white suit, and a female first-year student and leave at the beginning of August.

On a parting gesture, Professor Scott agreed to grant an audience to the Anims for the teacher to lose its finest teacher and most dazzling classroom personality.

Q. Mr. Scott, you'll certainly be missed here at Marshall-Wythe.

A. I know that.

Q. Yes, you'll certainly be missed here, and...

A. You're probably not alone. Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

Q. Yes, Ah, why did you decide to go to U.Va.?

A. Quite frankly, they needed me. They are, there, a school with a national reputation, a new building, can take a line from a hornbook author, but still sadly lacking.

Q. What is just what is that they're lacking?

A. Me.

Q. Yes. Is it true that you bought your white suit just because you were going to U.Va.?

A. People make entirely too much ado about that white suit. I bought it because it reflects my personality. White, you know, is symbolic of purity and perfection.

Q. Well, when you were at U.Va. last year, did the other faculty members seem -- ah -- impressed to have a professor from Marshall-Wythe?

A. Yes. I remember, early in my first semester, one of the professors came up to me and said, "you're from William and Mary, aren't you?" When I said yes, he asked me, "how long does it take to get here from Lexington?"

Q. I see. And what are your plans at U.Va.?

A. Well, I don't know how long I'll stay there. After all, Bill Douglas is getting to be an old man. But in the meantime, I intend to write the definitive law review article on U.C.C. Sec. 1-103. After that, I'll complete my treatise on Pearson v. Posi and its meaning in modern society. And, of course, I have my correspondence with Casner and Leach, straightening out their misconceptions.

Q. What about your wife? Won't she find it difficult to change law schools in mid-stream?

A. She will, she'll bask in the reflected glory wherever I am. Besides, it could be very humilitating if we stayed. What if she wasn't editor-in-chief of the Louisiana Law Review article on U.C.C. Sec. 1-103? After that, I'll complete my treatise on Pearson v. Posi and its meaning in modern society. And, of course, I have my correspondence with Casner and Leach, straightening out their misconceptions.

Q. Speaking of the Laura Vu, as a former editor and present advisor, what are your feelings about that publication now?

A. Well, changes are certainly needed. For example, the names of the advisors should be displayed much more prominently. On the cover, I think. And the contents should be more interesting -- like my commercial law class, for instance. People fall asleep reading the Laura Vu. They never ask any questions. When you leave, do you intend to maintain any ties with Marshall-Wythe?

A. Oh, absolutely. After all, I'm sure that this school will be, it will be remembered as having spawned me. It always gives me a good feeling to return. Why last year, when I came back for weekends and saw students, the adulation was just marvelous. They know that they're losing, don't kid yourself. And, of course, I'll always be receptive to offers to return for a lot of money.

Q. It's been suggested that you might someday return here as dean. What about that?

A. Well, of course, I could do that if I don't hang on to more than I already have. But I think that after I leave here, I'm not going to teach. Thank you very much for your time and thoughts, Mr. Scott.

Bobby Scott, Marshall-Wythe's renowned marshmal, will be leaving the halls of his beloved alma mater this spring to take up a mercurial position at whatever that law school is in Charlottesville. We will miss Mr. Scott's presence greatly, if only we can figure out what he is.

Prof. Muggs Cogitates

It is as if the Virginia Supreme Court has said "go ye and sin some more. But do it only in your motel room." Remember — I am not making this up. It is all there for you to read, at 214 Va. 325. Here in Virginia, the bedrock of the nation, such conduct has been given the stamp of approval by the very highest court.

Professor J. Fred Muggs' faculty commentary focuses on immorality in Virginia and creeping, law's influence on the Supreme Court.

Professor Muggs joined the Marshall-Wythe faculty in 1975. He is an expert on some of the more difficult subjects in law school, including remedies, legal history, and beekeeping wisdom.
Doctor Commander Professor James Madison Whitehead, Esq. B.A., LL.B., M.L.S., rocked the Law School last night when he announced that the International Law Library will be moved to the United States Supreme Court Building on August 13, 1974.

Whitehead, reputedly the most profoundly titled person in the Western Hemisphere save Queen Elizabeth, explained the move as being part and parcel of a unified theory of octagonal library construction. He said that people were complaining that the International Law Library was inconveniently located, and that the move to Washington would clear up the myriad of problems associated with its present site.

The Animus asked Associate Dean Richard Williamson if he had a comment on Whitehead's announcement. He responded that he "would really rather have it a little bit farther away." It was once upon a time referring to Whitehead, Whitehead's announcement, or the International Law Library.

Evans Adair, managing editor of the Animus Curiae, whose office is located in the same room as the International Law Library when asked for his feelings on the move of his nemesis, answered, "gargle gargle gurgle um-chukka wambi snapper!" George Campbell, Editor-in-Chief, was also present, and wondered out loud whether he would still be able to look at the pictures in Peale's International Government Organizations.

Harley Urech Cranberry, the Curator of the Supreme Court Building, stated that the collection will be placed on the south fire escape, adjacent to Justice Rehnquist's urinal.

Mrs. Forbes is reported to be resting comfortably in Community Hospital after she was attacked by an enraged Red Shifted Flicker. When Mrs. Forbes told the Flicker to come down or it would not be allowed to matriculate, the Flicker matriculated on her face and flicked her severely about the head.

Sullivan Describes Relevant Courses

In response to student requests for more relevant and varied courses, the administration has announced the following additions to next year's schedule.

Law of the Pore
- Fall
  - Mr. Clean
  - A study of the rights and remedies available to the victim of dirt under his skin. Historical bases and statutory interpretation will be washed. Soap provided.

Illegal Accounting
- Spring
  - Mr. Nixon
  - The course will teach the prospective lawyer how to balance his books so only the public is fooled. Inoperative addenda and unconstitutional defenses will be taught.

Old & Gas Law
- Fall
  - Mr. Sawhill
  - An explanation of the processes used by the major refining companies to hide surplus petroluem, raise prices and conspire with shells. You will profit 80 percent or more from this course.

Future Interests
- Spring
  - Mr. Kreskin
  - A study of presently non-existent legal problems.

Contracts
- Fall and Spring
  - Mr. Gambino
  - A study of the fundamental concepts of the law of contracts. Covered are the extortion, default, the kiss, mark, hit, dumping and escape on insufficient evidence.

Commercial Law
- Fall
  - Mr. Suttle
  - An examination of how to get residuals from advertising your own business in the most nauseating manner.

Conflict of Law Schools
- Spring
  - Staff
  - An examination of the reasons why students at Ivy League law schools are likely to get jobs and students at non-Ivy League schools aren't.

Consumer Delusion
- Fall
  - Mrs. Knazer
  - How to prevent getting a lemon from GM when you don't want one and not getting a lemon from Food Fair when you do.

Old-Fashioned Land Finance
- Fall
  - Mr. Getty
  - A study of the simpler ways to obtain real estate, such as paying cash.

Modern Social Revolution
- Fall and Spring
  - Mr. Clever
  - A study of violent reaction to American ills. Examination of the law of larceny, assault, disturbing the peace and arson. Students will get the opportunity to see the crimes committed.

Busted Estates
- Spring
  - Miss Shug
  - A consideration of the problems in the probate of wills of testators who have died from neglect/minor silicone treatment.

Dean James P. Whyte, Jr.

Moving right along, Mr. Donaldson was welcomed as the new SBA President at the May 12, 1961, meeting of the SBA Board. We know; we have the minutes to that meeting. Demonstrating the civic responsibility that has since led him to a seat on one of the major political boards, Donaldson began his service as SBA President with the assertiveness and downright cool that has been one of his qualities for so long. Yip. We will now quote the minutes, because this is good stuff. "John Donaldson thanked the law students (all eleven of them) for electing him President. John stated he felt there should be as a further attempt made at separating the law school from the college (now we know who to blame). He suggested that we should wear coats and ties to set ourselves off from the rest of the campus (he would think of that).

One Final Note: The annual M-W Open Golf Tournament will be held Wednesday, May 8 (that's tomorrow, kids) with tee times from noon until 2:30 P.M. Entrance fees are $3.00. If you have not signed up by now, do so today on second floor.

"This led to a lively discussion: Melson (who's he?) felt that one should not dress up important to make a good impression on lawyers who (in his case) comes to the law library?", and that nothing would be done unless the whole student body was behind the proposal.

"Some felt that we cannot be persuaded to dress differently until the law school is made more separate from the college. (See article on new law building, p. 1.) Mr. Schilke offered a resolution that students wear sport coat and tie, or a tie without a coat in the law school. This was passed with a good majority." That's the story. When pressed by the Animus for an explanation of his foolish conduct, Donaldson blushed and asked, "How did you find out about that?" The Animus responded, "We're cool. We know everything." Donaldson then asked this reporter what his excuse was for his Frank DeMarco-like performance on his fall Tax exam. This reporter angrily walked out, threatening Donaldson with platitudes about retribution and constipation.

There you have it. I thank the faculty and administration for their willingness to laugh at themselves, the Amilos for providing me with a forum, and most of all, to each and every one of my readers for supporting this column.

A. Well, of course our physical facilities were terrible in the early days, except for the office space. We had good office space and always had good office space.

As in any other field, whether he be law or otherwise, there are individuals who are more qualified than others to do the necessary work and there are some individuals who are just not qualified.

Still another second-year student who is a member but has not participated in many SBA events gave as for his reason for joining many indirect benefits.

It is only fair, then, that you hear our complaints! First, no matter what the weather, one of the other of us has to walk to James Blair to pick up the doughnuts, which must then be carried back to third floor, dripping sugar syrup all the way. This is necessitated by the fact that the doughnut man has to deliver them before the building is open, and if he leaves them outside, they get attacked.

Disregarding the admonition of "let him who is guiltless cast the first stone," I'll cast some anyway.

In order to force the world's nations to act promptly, Rep. Downing suggests that the United States take certain unilateral steps which could have the effect of forcing rapid acceptance of an international accord. One such step would be to immediately increase our jurisdictional control from the present 12-mile limit to 200 miles.

Lowance, Lowance is reported to have solicited the Boy Scouts of local Troop 12 who conducted a massive doughnut sale in nearby Norge on three consecutive Saturdays. Graves stated that in recognition of the service of "these fine young men," a gigantic sculpture of a chocolate-covered doughnut would grace the front lawn of the new facility.

Tours of the new facility were begun yesterday afternoon as outgoing SBA President James Murray led the first contingent of excited students through the complex.

A varied assortment of comments were heard to be uttered from those taking the tour: "oh my..." from a young woman, "goodness gracious..." from a young man, and "jeezsuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuuum
Placement Efforts Surge As Four Find New Jobs

The Placement Office of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law proudly reported yesterday that four persons at Marshall-Wythe have obtained jobs this year.

The four, Mr. Bob Scott, Dr. William Swindler, Mr. Doug Rendleman, and Don Llewellyn, recently informed the Placement Office of their success at finding employment. Dean Richard A. Williamson, who serves at Placement Director when he's not making a fool of himself on the softball diamond, gleefully reported that the four job offers proved that there is no discrimination in hiring practices, explaining that "If Bob Scott can get a job, anyone can."

With the four successful applicants, Marshall-Wythe now has only around 130 students seeking positions. Dean Williamson believes that this figures is substantially lower than last year, when more third-year students graduated.

In addition to citing the four recent job offers, Williamson further notes that students this year are receiving far fewer job applications returned unopened. Williamson concedes that the former practice of not opening applications has been replaced by sending "HO HO HO" refusals, but reasons that this is a step in the right direction.

Recruiters from the four major military branches will be visiting the law school this week to seek applicants for military positions. Sgt. Albert Tinkle revealed yesterday that the Army is not considering these applicants for JAG positions, as "we're glutted with young lawyers," but proclaimed that any M.W. student will be given careful consideration for an infantry position in the New Army.

Geriatric Faculty Withers Under Animus Onslaught

The Animus Curiae, living up to all the promise contained in the faculty softball team in a matchup of the two powers Sunday. The largest crowd ever to see an Animus-faculty game cheered the heavy favorites on to a convincing 8-5 win.

The three fans in attendance, Cliff "Don't Touch Me" Weckstein, Charlie "Go Get It For Me" Burr, and Bob "Cruise to Nowhere" Quadros, were assigned the crucial task of umpiring the game fairly. The Animus squad complimented the umpires for their exceptionally good calls. Editor George Campbell stating, "It is unthinkable to think that these outstanding young men were anything other than ubiquitous." Meanwhile, towering faculty Animus Ombudsman Smiling Bobby "I'm Just a Marshmallow" Scott screamed, "We were robbed! Animus players laughed off this petty grievance.

The match with the faculty being a certain victory, the faculty "bombers" knocked up a surprisingly pathetic Laura Vu team on April 28. Lastly, the Laura Vu squad, which tried every trick in the playbook to waver the compassionless Animus players allowed the faculty virtually carte blanche in filling the miserable lineup with ringer.

In the first contest, the Laura Vu sluggers jumped out to an early lead, the score being 12-1 after two innings. Faculty pitcher Tiny Tim Sullivan complained of stiffness in his arm, but anyone with a brain knew that the faculty's problem was essentially lacklateral. Faculty sluggers finally found the range, however, and came up with a narrow 17-15 win in eight innings. Most observers credited the win to sloppy Laura Vu play, but Laura Vu manager, Gary "I don't want to play" Roth, attributed their demise to alleged partiality on the part of the umpires. Can you imagine that?

Faculty jocks met their maker Sunday, however, as the Animus studs absolutely cleaned up. Fielding a team which included an infield of Dave Holmes, John Fletcher, George Campbell, and Evan Adair, a battery of Buster O'Brien, Greg Walsh, and Zach Shapiro, and an outfield corps of Al Darch, Jim Murray, Gary Peet, Bill "I can play anywhere" Miller, Dan Slapkin, Burt Saunders, Ray Villarosa, and Henry Aaron, the geriatric faculty never had a chance.

In addition to an assortment of youthful ringers, the anemic faculty squad featured such never-weres as Elmer Schafer (he's an athlete!), Bobby Scott, and Mike "You Didn't Give Me Time to Get In Shape" Madison. Happy Dickie Williamson, Tiny Tim Sullivan, John "I Taught Frank DeMarco All He Knows" Donaldson, Tom Collins Collins, Ronnie Brown, Count (1,23...), Emeric Fischer, Schoteman Dick Walck, Don Llewellyn, Wally Williams, and Bobbie Crump. The faculty threatened Animus with expulsion if they didn't quit after the first inning, when the score was a respectable 19-2, but the koug was still full, and the slaughter proceeded.

The faculty threatened to make the score close in the third inning. With the bases loaded and two out, the Animus made a kay run (Greg Walsh made a pottie run), and the faculty argued over who was to hit the grand slam home run. The rally died when Tom Collins, who batted only because Dickie Williamson was on the sidelines, rolling a joint with Evan Adair, struck out on three pitched balls.
