2012

Information and Services for Employers, 2012-2013

William & Mary Law School

Repository Citation
https://scholarship.law.wm.edu/employer/1
An Invitation to Recruit William & Mary Law School Students and Graduates

William & Mary Law Students Offer:

Exceptional Professional Skills
Our Legal Skills Program is a comprehensive program required of all first-year students. This six-week program includes intensive skills training, clinics, and externships.

- We train at least one additional legal skills program. The Wolf Law Library

Cover illustrations. Top left: Late eighteenth-century illustration of the mythological griffin from George Wythe’s 1757 work on the natural law. The William & Mary Law School's bookplate features the coat of arms granted to the College in 1694 by the College of Arms in London. Bottom right: Wythe’s bookplate. William & Mary adopted the griffin as its mascot in 2010.

Students and Graduates

William & Mary has a long tradition of hiring attorneys from its alumni among the most prominent talents in the legal profession. Many have achieved significant success in their careers, making them valuable assets to any law firm.

Broad Geographic Interests
William & Mary students have pre-law school work experience in over 60 nations, and 24 graduated with law degrees from 150 institutions. They earned undergraduate degrees from 279 institutions and 24 graduated with law degrees from 150 institutions. They earned undergraduate degrees from 279 institutions.

Exceptional Professional Skills
Our Legal Skills Program is a comprehensive program required of all first-year students. This six-week program includes intensive skills training, clinics, and externships.

- We train at least one additional legal skills program. The Wolf Law Library

Cover illustrations. Top left: Late eighteenth-century illustration of the mythological griffin from George Wythe’s 1757 work on the natural law. The William & Mary Law School's bookplate features the coat of arms granted to the College in 1694 by the College of Arms in London. Bottom right: Wythe’s bookplate. William & Mary adopted the griffin as its mascot in 2010.

Students and Graduates

William & Mary has a long tradition of hiring attorneys from its alumni among the most prominent talents in the legal profession. Many have achieved significant success in their careers, making them valuable assets to any law firm.

Broad Geographic Interests
William & Mary students have pre-law school work experience in over 60 nations, and 24 graduated with law degrees from 150 institutions. They earned undergraduate degrees from 279 institutions.

Exceptional Professional Skills
Our Legal Skills Program is a comprehensive program required of all first-year students. This six-week program includes intensive skills training, clinics, and externships.

- We train at least one additional legal skills program. The Wolf Law Library

Cover illustrations. Top left: Late eighteenth-century illustration of the mythological griffin from George Wythe’s 1757 work on the natural law. The William & Mary Law School's bookplate features the coat of arms granted to the College in 1694 by the College of Arms in London. Bottom right: Wythe’s bookplate. William & Mary adopted the griffin as its mascot in 2010.

Students and Graduates

William & Mary has a long tradition of hiring attorneys from its alumni among the most prominent talents in the legal profession. Many have achieved significant success in their careers, making them valuable assets to any law firm.

Broad Geographic Interests
William & Mary students have pre-law school work experience in over 60 nations, and 24 graduated with law degrees from 150 institutions. They earned undergraduate degrees from 279 institutions.

Exceptional Professional Skills
Our Legal Skills Program is a comprehensive program required of all first-year students. This six-week program includes intensive skills training, clinics, and externships.

- We train at least one additional legal skills program. The Wolf Law Library

Cover illustrations. Top left: Late eighteenth-century illustration of the mythological griffin from George Wythe’s 1757 work on the natural law. The William & Mary Law School's bookplate features the coat of arms granted to the College in 1694 by the College of Arms in London. Bottom right: Wythe’s bookplate. William & Mary adopted the griffin as its mascot in 2010.

Students and Graduates

William & Mary has a long tradition of hiring attorneys from its alumni among the most prominent talents in the legal profession. Many have achieved significant success in their careers, making them valuable assets to any law firm.

Broad Geographic Interests
William & Mary students have pre-law school work experience in over 60 nations, and 24 graduated with law degrees from 150 institutions. They earned undergraduate degrees from 279 institutions.

Exceptional Professional Skills
Our Legal Skills Program is a comprehensive program required of all first-year students. This six-week program includes intensive skills training, clinics, and externships.

- We train at least one additional legal skills program. The Wolf Law Library

Cover illustrations. Top left: Late eighteenth-century illustration of the mythological griffin from George Wythe’s 1757 work on the natural law. The William & Mary Law School's bookplate features the coat of arms granted to the College in 1694 by the College of Arms in London. Bottom right: Wythe’s bookplate. William & Mary adopted the griffin as its mascot in 2010.

Students and Graduates

William & Mary has a long tradition of hiring attorneys from its alumni among the most prominent talents in the legal profession. Many have achieved significant success in their careers, making them valuable assets to any law firm.

Broad Geographic Interests
William & Mary students have pre-law school work experience in over 60 nations, and 24 graduated with law degrees from 150 institutions. They earned undergraduate degrees from 279 institutions.
William & Mary Office of Career Services Offers:

- Convenient on-campus interviewing with full pre-screening of students’ resumes. Upon request, we will be happy to coordinate your on-campus date here with visits to other area law schools.

- Videoconference and Skype interviews. Employers from around the world have found video and Skype interviews an effective and efficient first step in their recruitment process. Interviewing our students via Skype and videoconference is an excellent, cost-effective option for employers interested in minimizing recruiting costs and eliminating travel and lost billable time.

- Position listings. If you are recruiting for a position but do not plan to visit the Law School, we will be happy to inform students. We will forward all interested students’ application materials at one time or, if you prefer, have students send their materials individually.

- Job listings for laterals. Employers may, at no charge, list vacancies for experienced attorneys.

- Law School-funded public interest/government fellowships and loan repayment assistance. The Law School annually provides summer public service fellowships to approximately 100 students as well as post-graduate fellowships and loan repayment assistance for public service work to graduates.

To request employer services, please complete an online form at law.wm.edu/careerservices/employers/or register for a Symplicity account at law-wm-csm.symplicity.com/employers/index.php