Dear Graduates and Friends:

During the fiscal year that ended June 30, 2009, the Law School enjoyed an increase in Annual Fund giving for the twelfth year in a row, notwithstanding our nation’s economic difficulties. Thank you very much for your generosity.

Your continued support of Marshall-Wythe is particularly meaningful in light of a recent decline in state support for higher education in Virginia. During the past few years, the state has reduced its support for the Law School by 32%.

Although this cut in state support will be partially mitigated during the 2009-10 academic year by a one-time use of federal stimulus dollars, the next few years will be especially challenging as we adapt to this new fiscal environment. As William & Mary President Taylor Reveley has stated, the College must fulfill its aspirations in the future with a revised funding model that relies much more heavily on private giving and tuition.

We face financial hurdles, but we do so in the context of a law school that is moving forward in meaningful ways and whose best years lie ahead. We are privileged to have a distinguished faculty who excel both as teachers and as scholars, impressive and energetic students, and a highly accomplished alumni body with a strong commitment to the ideal of service.

I am deeply honored to serve as Dean of the Law School. With your stalwart support and encouragement, I look forward to continuing the tradition of excellence here at Marshall-Wythe.

Sincerely,

DAVISON M. DOUGLAS
DEAN AND ARTHUR B. HANSON PROFESSOR OF LAW
Dear Graduates, Parents and Friends:

In today's busy world, we rarely stop and reflect on past achievements. And yet, with the William & Mary Law School Annual Report for 2008–09, we acknowledge our accomplishments and thank those who generously supported the Law School in the fiscal year that ended on June 30, 2009.

We recognize and celebrate all of you who have invested in the oldest law school in America — your support sends a clear message that you value our educational mission: to mold the legal minds of our graduates, who will go into the world and serve as leaders in our profession and their communities. Certainly, we hope that the story of our growth, even in difficult economic times, will engender an even greater sense of pride in Marshall-Wythe.

Your gifts have enabled us to compete for the best students, attract and retain excellent teachers, and support programs that reinforce and enhance the classroom experience. For these reasons, we thank you and acknowledge your support within this listing of donors. We hope that it will inspire you to look to the Law School's future and to support us once again this year. Our educational environment remains fiercely competitive and we are committed to providing a top-notch legal education for our students.

Difficult fiscal times lie ahead for law schools across the country, including Marshall-Wythe. But opportunities always accompany challenges, and your support will help Marshall-Wythe continue to outshine its peers. Please join me in supporting our nation's oldest law school. Your gifts matter. They make a profound difference in the lives of everyone at William & Mary Law School and are most deeply appreciated.

Cordially,

MARK C. VAN DEUSEN '98
CHAIR, LAW SCHOOL ANNUAL FUND
FACULTY

Scott Dodson, a civil procedure expert, joined us as an associate professor. He is the author of How to Think like a Lawyer: Civil Procedure (forthcoming Oxford University Press).

Jayne W. Barnard, Cutler Professor, was named the 2009–10 Herbert V. Kelly, Sr., Professor for Excellence in Teaching. The professorship was made possible by the generosity of the late Herbert V. Kelly, Sr., B.A. '41, B.C.L. '43, LL.D. '93, and is held for a two-year term by a member of the faculty. Haynes Professor Paul Marcus was the first to hold the chair.

The Law School community gathered in April to thank Lynda Butler, Chancellor Professor, for her service as interim dean from February 2008 through June 2009 and her previous eight years of service as vice dean.

The 2009–10 William H. Cabell Research Professorship was awarded to Nancy Combs. The Cabell Foundation, established by Robert G. and Maude Morgan Cabell III of Richmond, Va., established an endowed position at the Law School in 1993 to further faculty research and scholarship.

Combs also was promoted to full professor with tenure. Her scholarship focuses on international criminal justice. Her latest book is titled Fact-Finding Without Facts: The Uncertain Evidentiary Foundations of International Criminal Convictions (Cambridge University Press 2010).

Laura A. Heymann was promoted to associate professor. She writes and teaches in the areas of copyright law and trademark law, and was the 2008 recipient of the Walter L. Williams, Jr., Teaching Award.

Linda A. Malone, Marshall-Wythe Foundation Professor, will research and lecture in Italy in spring 2010 as the Distinguished Fulbright Chair in International Environmental Law. The Fulbright Scholars Program selects only about 40 individuals worldwide each year as distinguished chairs.

Ronald H. Rosenberg was named Chancellor Professor of Law. He serves as associate dean for academic affairs and is director of the American Legal System Graduate Program and Foreign Exchanges.

Three law faculty — Nancy Combs, Neal E. Devins, and Davison M. Douglas — were among 20 College of William & Mary faculty chosen to receive inaugural Plumeri Awards for Faculty Excellence.

STUDENTS

The Black Law Students Association was chosen as National Chapter of the Year by the National Black Law Students Association. Previous recipients of this honor include chapters at Harvard and the University of Virginia.

In a recent ranking of more than 900 U.S. and selected non-U.S. legal periodicals, the William and Mary Law Review ranked as the 20th most-cited legal journal. Among the most-cited student-edited journals in their subject areas, the William & Mary Bill of Rights Journal ranked third, the William and Mary Journal of Women and the Law ranked fourth, and the William and Mary Environmental Law and Policy Review ranked tenth. A new journal, the William & Mary Business Law Review, recently was approved by the faculty and will publish its first volume in 2010.

The Law School’s competitive teams brought home numerous individual and team honors in 2008–09. Moot Court Team members placed first in the Tulane Law School Mardi Gras Invitational, second in the ABA Regional Tournament, and, for the first time in 17 years, advanced to the National Finals of the N.Y. Bar Association’s National Moot Court Tournament. A W&M Trial Team took first place in the William W. Daniel National GIVING
In FY ’09, the Law School raised approximately $2 million in private support. Gifts to the Annual Fund totaled $1,366,587. Some 1,727 alumni made gifts in FY ’09, an increase of approximately 7% from FY ’08.

Reunion classes made generous gifts and five-year pledges totaling $454,901 by June 30. New reunion gift and pledge records were set by the Class of 1974 for a 35th year reunion ($212,125) and the Class of 1999 for a 10th year reunion ($83,736). For more about reunion giving, please see page 8.

Members of the Class of 2009 raised $36,823 in gifts and pledges for their class gift. Despite a challenging economic climate, 83% of the class participated in the gift drive. For more about the Class of 2009 gift, please see page 11.

ENDOWMENTS
Law School endowments totaled approximately $31.9 million as of June 30, 2009. This constitutes a decrease from an approximate value of $38.9 million as of June 30, 2008, and is the result of the downturn in financial markets during the past year.

CLINICS AND PROGRAMS
The Law School announced the opening of two new clinics. The Special Education Advocacy Clinic helps families who have children with special needs obtain the educational services and assistance that their children need to learn effectively. The Veterans’ Benefits Clinic assists veterans with the filing, adjudication and appeal of service-related disability compensation claims.

The Election Law Program, a joint project of the Law School and the National Center for State Courts, announced a new resource for trial judges to assist with the resolution of election law disputes. In September 2008, through its website, the ABA published materials created by the Program including video lectures by prominent election law scholars and a manual on election law. The site also features a state-by-state guide to election laws. Members of the Election Law Society contributed extensively to the development of this state-by-state guide.

The Institute of Bill of Rights Law and the National Center for State Courts announced the formation of a joint project, the State Supreme Court Initiative. The Initiative will undertake projects to enhance the visibility of state supreme courts and create vehicles for public education about their work.

The Program in Comparative Legal Studies and Post-Conflict Justice was established in 2008 to serve as a focal point for research and study of legal and policy issues relating to legal practices across systems and mechanisms to reestablish justice after conflict.

ADMISSIONS
The J.D. Class of 2012, 212 strong, was chosen from 4,984 applicants, an increase of 8.7% from the previous year. The national applicant pool increased 5% during the same period. The class had a median undergraduate G.P.A. of 3.66 and a median LSAT of 165 (92nd percentile).

Twenty-five students joined the Law School community in 2009—10 as degree candidates in the LL.M. Program. These students hail from Azerbaijan, China, Japan, Kuwait, New Zealand, the United Kingdom, and Uzbekistan.

TUITION AND FINANCIAL AID

Tuition and fees for 2009–10 are $21,646 (for Virginia residents) and $31,846 (for nonresidents).

Sixty-seven percent of the student body in the academic year 2009–10 are receiving aid in the form of scholarships or fellowships; the total value of these scholarships and fellowship awards is approximately $4.9 million.

PUBLIC SERVICE

Students teamed with the law firm of Hunton & Williams during spring semester to teach diverse students from Richmond’s Thomas Jefferson High School about law and the legal profession as part of a pilot program sponsored by the National Association for Law Placement and Street Law Inc. Only five law schools and five firms nationwide participated in the pilot program.

The Public Service Fund celebrated its 20th anniversary in fall 2008.

The Law School awarded 104 summer public service fellowships in 2009, totaling $282,231, to students working for 67 non-profit organizations and government agencies in 17 states, the District of Columbia, Argentina, Azerbaijan, Cambodia, India, Russia, Spain, and Switzerland.

In 2009 the Loan Repayment Assistance Program Committee selected 13 recent graduates to receive awards from the Loan Repayment Assistance Program. Marshall-Wythe’s LRAP has provided forgivable loans totaling $174,000 to 28 alumni since its inception in 2005.

Over 100 students, faculty and administrators completed more than 4,000 hours of service in 2008–09 through the Law School’s Community/Pro Bono Service Program.

CAREER SERVICES

As of February 15, 2009, 97.1% of the Class of 2008 who reported their status to the Office of Career Services and who were seeking employment had jobs or were pursuing advanced degrees. Employed graduates were located in 25 states, the District of Columbia, and Mexico.

Among members of the Class of 2008 who reported their yearly salaries, the median salary was $100,000. Among leading employment areas: private practice (60.8%), judicial clerkships (14.1%), government (8.0%), businesses/corporations (6.5%), and military justice/armed forces (6.5%).

RANKINGS

HONORS AND AWARDS

The Marshall–Wythe Medallion is the highest honor given by the faculty and recognizes outstanding leaders from the bench, bar, and academia. Human rights advocate Hauwa Ibrahim was the 2007–08 medallion recipient, and Professor John H. Langbein of Yale Law School was the 2008–09 recipient.

Professor Robert C. Ellickson of Yale Law School was the recipient of the 2008 Brigham–Kanner Property Rights Prize. The 2009 prize was awarded to Professor Richard Pipes of Harvard. The Property Rights Project awards the prize each year to an outstanding figure in the field.

For a list of awards given at graduation, please see page 10.

SPEAKERS

Among recent notable visitors to the Law School in 2008–09: Chancellor Sandra Day O’Connor (who met with the 1L class for an exclusive Q&A and participated in the 22nd annual Supreme Court Preview), U.S. Senator Bob Bennett (R-Utah), the Hon. Ambassador Andreas S. Kakouris, Ambassador to the U.S. from the Republic of Cyprus, the Hon. Ambassador Jorge Dezcallar de Mazarredo, Ambassador to the U.S. from Spain, the Hon. H. Robert Mayer ’71 of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, and former Deputy Attorney General of the U.S. James B. Comey, Jr.

Alumni Weekend 2009

Almost 500 alumni, friends, and family members journeyed back to Williamsburg on April 17 & 18 for Law Alumni Weekend 2009. Special events included a wine and cheese reception hosted by Interim Dean Lynda Butler, the 6th Annual Public Service Fund Silent Auction, family barbecue, State-of-the-Law-School conversation with the Dean, Marshall-Wythe Generations (a collective look back and discussion about the Law School "back in the day"), and reunion class dinners.

For a complete gallery of 2009 Alumni Weekend photos, please visit law.wm.edu/alumni.
THANK YOU Reunion Classes

Classes celebrating reunions in 2009 gave generously to Marshall-Wythe with gifts and pledges totaling $882,083 by Alumni Weekend. By June 30, reunion classes had collectively contributed $945,901 in gifts and pledges. New reunion gift and pledge records were set by the Class of 1974 for a 35th year reunion ($212,125) and the Class of 1999 for a 10th year reunion ($83,736).

On hand to celebrate the reunion classes' generosity during Alumni Weekend were, in lower row, from left, Interim Dean Lynda Butler, William G. Lamberth II '04, and, holding check, Michael E. Baumann '79, Jocelyn W. Brittin '79, and Francine E. Friedman '99; in upper row, from left, David L. Delk '94, Charles T. Griffith '94, Marshall B. Barton '94, Paul E. Clifford '74, Jeffrey A. Graduation 2009

Gray skies and rain didn’t dampen the celebration of the Class of 2009’s graduation on May 17. Columbia University Law Professor Robert E. Scott ’68 spoke eloquently about trust, “a public trust that is honored by a special kind of lawyer, the lawyer who serves as a public citizen. To the audience’s delight, he shed light on the topic by examining “one of the most significant cultural phenomena of our time: lawyer jokes.”

THE FOLLOWING AWARDS WERE PRESENTED AT GRADUATION

CITIZEN LAWYER AWARD
Presented by the Law School Association to a graduate or friend of the Law School who stands squarely in the Jeffersonian tradition of outstanding citizenship and leadership — Thomas R. Frantz, B.A. ’70, J.D. ’73, M.L.T. ’81, president and chief operating officer of Williams Mullen

GEORGE WYTHE AWARD
An award given in recognition of selfless service — Latoya C. Asia ’09 and Jennifer G. Case ’09

JOHN MARSHALL AWARD
Honors exceptional service to the Law School — Interim Dean and Chancellor Professor of Law Lynda Butler

LAWRENCE W. I’ANSON AWARD
The highest award given to a graduating student by the Law School’s faculty in recognition of professional promise — Emily J. Dodds ’09

THATCHER PRIZE FOR EXCELLENCE
Presented annually at the University’s commencement to a graduate or professional student who has exhibited outstanding scholarship, service and character — Cullen Drescher Stallter ’09

THURGOOD MARSHALL AWARD
For distinguished pro bono work — Sarah L. Bellinger ’09 and William C. Smith, Jr., ’09

WALTER L. WILLIAMS, JR., MEMORIAL TEACHING AWARD
Recipient chosen each year by the graduating class — Senior Lecturer in Law Donald A. Tortorice

Jennifer G. Case ’09, 2008–09 SBA President, addressed her classmates. Case and Latoya C. Asia ’09 received the George Wythe Award.

Professor Robert E. Scott ’68

Law School Association President Kevin M. O’Neill ’99, Thomas R. Frantz, B.A. ’70, J.D. ’73, M.L.T. ’81, recipient of the Citizen Lawyer Award, and Interim Dean Lynda Butler, recipient of the John Marshall Award.
The Class of 2009 demonstrated their spirit — and generosity — during their class gift drive. Gifts and pledges from class members, parents and several law professors totaled $35,258 by Alumni Weekend and topped almost $37,000 by June 30. Despite a challenging economic climate, 83% of the class participated in the gift drive, making a profound statement of their confidence in the value of their Marshall-Wythe law degrees.

WHY I GIVE

The outstanding education I received at the Law School taught me to think critically, to challenge myself constantly, and to view the law not only as a career, but also as a tool to better the world we live in. I give to the Law School so that it can continue the excellent tradition of educating future citizen lawyers.

STEPHEN P. CARNEY ’80
Of Counsel, Funk & Bolton
Baltimore, MD
Adjunct Professor, W&M Law School

WHY I GIVE

At William & Mary, we were taught not just to be good practitioners or upstanding lawyers but lawyers whose public service extends far beyond what is traditionally thought of as pro bono service. We were bred to be lawyers who help sustain democracy and the rule of law with conviction and compassion. My prayer is that my support will help to ensure the ongoing success of the Law School, preserve its rich heritage and advance the legacy of the citizen lawyer.

In these tough economic times, I feel fortunate to be practicing law in an area and with people I truly enjoy. I know I have the top-notch education I received at William & Mary to thank, so I give to the Law School in hopes that it will help future graduates grasp hold of similar opportunities.

WHY I GIVE

Being a small part of William & Mary for a few years gave me a connection to a tremendously rich heritage of learning, service and civic involvement that has influenced me through my career. Giving to the Law School is crucial to ensuring others have an opportunity for a similar experience.

There are many ways you can get involved and help the Law School. Such as, for example,

Serve as a Chapter Liaison
Participate in the Co-Counsel Mentoring Program
Help Organize a Class Reunion or Class Gift
Give to the Law School
Contact Admitted Students
Represent Marshall-Wythe at Law School Fairs
Attend the Reception for Admitted Students
Volunteer in our Mock Interview Program
Let us know if your employer has a job opening
Participate in a Panel About Careers

For more, please call the Office of Development and Alumni Affairs at (757)221-3795 or write to lsdevl@wm.edu.
We appreciate your support!
