Effective August 31, 1962, Chancellor Professor of Law Dudley Warner Woodbridge retired from the Deanship of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. In commemoration of his distinguished service as Dean and his outstanding contribution as a teacher, he was honored at ceremonies held at the Wren Building on Burgesses Day, September 22, 1962.

On this occasion the Rector of the Board of Visitors, the Hon. Sterling Hutcheson in a commemorative address, reviewed the historical significance of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. Following this he presented to Dean Woodbridge a copy of the Resolution adopted by the Board of Visitors accepting his resignation from the Deanship and expressing its appreciation for his distinguished service to the College, and its pleasure in his continuing to teach in the Law School.

On behalf of the College, President Davis Y. Paschall accepted a portrait in oils of Dean Woodbridge by the artist, Tommy L. Grooms. The portrait was presented by the President of the William and Mary Law School Association, David O. Williams, Jr. on behalf of the Association.

The full proceedings of this event are to be published and a copy will be sent to you in the near future.

On September 1, 1962, the duties of the Dean were transferred to Joseph Curtis, Professor of Law, as Acting Dean for the 1962-1963 academic year.

At 9:00 A.M., Saturday, September 15, an academic orientation program was presented at which time the new students were given information on the functions of the Student Bar Association, the William and Mary Law Review, the moot court team, and Phi Alpha Delta. At 10:00 A.M., Saturday, the Barristers' Brides entertained at a coffee in Barrett Hall Lounge for wives of law students. The Phi Alpha Delta members were hosts to the new students at a mixer at the home of Charles White on Saturday evening. The orientation activities will be climaxed on Friday, September 28, when the Dean's annual picnic will be held at Matoaka Picnic Shelter.

LIBRARY ACQUISITIONS

A campaign initiated last spring has begun to plug two important gaps in the Law Library collections. One of the gaps is historical--consisting of session laws and court reports from many states, the collecting of these publications having been disrupted in the sixty years between the closing of the law school in 1861 and its re-opening in 1922. The other is contemporary--consisting of current state materials, including and in addition to the session laws and court reports, which have been only sporadically acquired. Through the efforts of a number of lawyer-Congressmen from various states, the Law Library has been able to locate a substantial amount of both for duplicate Virginia materials or for the William and Mary Law Review. In view of the fact that many state legal publications for the nineteenth century are extremely rare and, even if available from book dealers, are extremely expensive, the exchange arrangement has made it possible for acquisitions of considerable value to be added to the William and Mary collection at nominal expense. Typical of the contemporary material which will henceforth come to the Law Library on a regular basis are attorney general's opinions, judicial council reports, decisions of state administrative agencies, and certain legislative journals. This acquisition campaign supplements a number of recent gifts and exchanges; taken together, these added approximately 3,000 volumes to the collection, over and above normal annual additions. The William and Mary law collection when these added volumes have been duly inventories, will be between 31,000 and 32,000 volumes.

In addition to teaching the courses in Damages and Restitution during the Summer Session, he was one of 200 Army, Coast Guard, National Guard, Marine and Naval Officers selected to attend the National War College for a defense strategy seminar as a member of the Naval Reserve.
The Law School regrets to note the death of two loyal supporters:

Dr. Charles Phineas Sherman, A.B., LL.B., D.C.L., LL.D., Lecturer Emeritus in Roman, Canon, and Civil Law, died July 20, 1962, at his home in Short Beach, Connecticut, in his 89th year. From 1925 until his retirement in 1956 he delivered lectures at his own expense without compensation, contributed financially to the law school, and donated his law library. He had been Librarian at the Yale Law School, and taught at Yale, Boston and National Universities. His three-volume "Roman Law in the Modern World" was published in three editions. He is survived by his second wife, Mrs. Elsa T. Liefeld Sherman. He was beloved by all who knew him.

Elisha Hanson, born in Missouri in 1888; member of the District of Columbia and Maryland bars; practicing in the District as senior member of the firm of Hanson, Hanson and Cobb until his death on August 11, 1962. Mr. Hanson was a press correspondent for some years prior to his law practice and remained a renowned champion for freedom of the press throughout his distinguished professional career, authoring many published articles in its cause. His survivors include his widow, Letitia Hanson, and a son, Arthur B. Hanson, both of whom received their legal education at this School. The Law School has lost a truly great friend and one of its most loyal supporters in his passing.
