NEWSWORTHY NOTES

CONGRATULATIONS to Sarah Fulton, Laura Hopkins, Dan Kruger, and Amy Markopoulos who won the second International Virtual Moot Court Competition. Five Australian law schools and W&M competed against each other via video conferencing. W&M argued at night from the McGlothlin Courtroom while the Australian schools competed in their morning. The problem concerned an invasion of a Second Life company meeting by a person using a avatar costumed as a misbehaving pirate. The incident was then posted to the web. Claiming copyright invasion, the president of the company holding the meeting sought to have the video pulled from the defendant's server. Our four person team competed in two-person teams and won both preliminary rounds. Amy and Dan argued in the finals, winning against Bond University. On Wednesday evening, Professors Trotter Hardy, Laura Heymann, and Rebecca Hulse sat as the panel of arbitrators; judging two Australian teams. W&M's part of the competition was organized and supported by the Center for Legal and Court Technology.

CONGRATULATIONS to the 1L class for participating in their first SBA election! It was a tremendous success. The Class of 2010 has shown incredible initiative in this election cycle. The following individuals will serve as the 1L SBA Representatives for the 2007-08 school year: Meezan Qayumi, Chris Rey and Zack DeMeola In addition, the 1L class raised $130 for the Twin Tower Orphan Fund, in remembrance of 9-11. Great work!

CONGRATULATIONS to Ryan Brady (3L) and his wife, Caroline, on the birth of their son, Jonas.

CONGRATULATIONS to Junaid Ahmad (3L) on being selected President, of the National Muslim Law Students Law School Association (NMLSA). Junaid competed against candidates from all the other big Ivy League law schools. Needless to say, we are very proud of him.

LAW SCHOOL RECYCLING

The law school and library recycling bins are clearly marked. We separate paper and cans/glass/plastic into different bins. Please take care when recycling, since your fellow students are responsible for emptying the bins!

PLEASE RECYCLE:

MARK YOUR CALENDAR

THE LAW AND POLITICS OF THE NSA'S WARRANTLESS WIRETAPPING ISSUE: A SPEECH BY JOHN YOO – Today, September 14, at 1:00 p.m., in room 127, the Federalist Society will be hosting Professor John Yoo for a talk on this issue. Professor Yoo worked in the Bush Administration's Justice Department, and played a key role in formulating the legal responses to a host of post-9/11 national security issues. For more information, please contact Will Sleeth, wwslee@wm.edu.

PSF: GIVE-A-DAY PLEDGES DUE - PSF Give-A-Day pledges are due on or before September 14. A huge thank you goes out to those who gave a day of their summer earnings (however large or small). Checks can be deposited in Eric Anderson's (2L) or Joanna Klein's (2L) hanging file.

WILLIAMSBURG FARMERS MARKET, MERCHANTS SQUARE - Saturday, September 15, 8:00 a.m.-noon - A colorful poster has been created as a memento of the Market's 5th Anniversary. Posters will be available for sale and signing by the artist Fred Miller. Artists from This Century Gallery, Chef Kennedy of Dudley's Farmhouse Grill, and Mr. Little's Big Jazz Band will be on hand for this special day at the Market. Pumpkins and chrysanthemums will join the abundance of fall products for sale at the market stands.

THE ACS HOSTS JEREMY GUNN - Please join the ACS as they present Jeremy Gunn, Director of the American Civil Liberties Union's Program for Freedom Religion and Belief, on Monday, September 17 at 1:00 p.m. in room 124. His topic will be "Secularism and Separation: Past Their Prime or Ready for a Comeback?"

SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT LAW SOCIETY GENERAL INTEREST MEETING - Interested in a career in sports or entertainment law? Come to SELS's general interest meeting on Monday, September 17 at 1:00 p.m. in room 127. Free pizza and drinks.

THERAPEUTIC JURISPRUDENCE (TJ) SOCIETY ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING - Monday, September 17 at 1:00 p.m. in room 133 – free food! The first student group of its kind, the TJ Society concentrates on the law's impact on emotional life and psychological well-being. TJ is a perspective that regards the law (rules of law, legal procedures, and the roles of legal actors) itself as a social force that often produces therapeutic or anti-therapeutic results. All interested students are encouraged to attend our first meeting of the year to learn about our group and help plan new projects for this year – including community service opportunities and collaboration with Students for the Innocence Project (SFIP) as well as other student groups. If you have questions or cannot attend, but are interested in participating, please e-mail Megan Hay at mehayx@wm.edu. We hope to see you there!

ASIAN LAW STUDENT ASSOCIATION GENERAL INTEREST MEETING - Are you an Asian law student? Are you interested in Asia? Do you have a deep love for or attraction to Asian law students? Come to ALSA's general interest meeting on Wednesday, September 19 in room 124. Free pizza and drinks. Contact Brian Suh with any questions: bssuhx@wm.edu

THE FEDERALIST SOCIETY HOSTS DR. ABIGAIL THERNSTROM - "What Is So Compelling About Diversity?: The Supreme Court's Decisions in the School Race Cases" The Federalist Society's W&M Chapter presents Dr. Abigail Thernstrom, on Wednesday, September 19, at 1:00 p.m. in room 127. The very engaging Dr. Thernstrom will speak about the Supreme Court's recent decisions regarding affirmative action programs in public schools (Parents Involved in Community Schools v. Seattle School District No. 1, and Meredith v. Jefferson County Board). She will also take your questions. Dr. Thernstrom is vice-chair of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, a senior fellow at the Manhattan Institute, and a member of the Massachusetts State Board of Education.

APOLOGIZE FOR SLAVERY? SCHOLAR DISCUSSES PROS AND CONS - On Thursday, September 20, 2007, University of Alabama Law Professor Alfred Brophy will speak on the topic, "Considering a University Apology for Slavery: The Case of William & Mary President Thomas R. Dew." Co-sponsored by the Student Division of the Institute of Bill of Rights Law, the William & Mary Bill of Rights Journal, and the Black Law Students Association, the presentation will begin at 3:30 p.m. at the Law School. IT IS FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC. A question-and-answer period and a reception will follow.

Earlier this year, the Virginia Legislature became the first state legislature in the nation to issue an official apology for slavery. Currently, legislative bodies throughout the nation are debating whether to issue their own apologies. Earlier this month, in an emotional speech, the mayor of London issued a historic apology for slavery. Professor Brophy will discuss the controversy over slavery and apologies generally, the stark divide along racial lines on this issue, and some of the moral issues on either side. He will also discuss the College of William & Mary's connections to slavery – in particular, Thomas R. Dew, William & Mary's president in the 1830s-1840s. Dew is the author of, among other works, "Review of the Debates in the Virginia Legislature," one of the most reprinted arguments on slavery in the years leading into Civil War.

For more information, please contact Joy Anastasia Thompson at jathom@wm.edu or (757) 345-6884.

PSF CASINO NIGHT - Get excited for PSF's first major event of the school year -- CASINO NIGHT! We'll transform the law school lobby into a mini Vegas and let you all

ROBERT M. CHESNEY, Associate Professor of Law at Wake Forest University Law School, will speak on "Terrorism and the Convergence of Criminal and Military Detention Models" at the Law School on Wednesday, October 10. The lecture, part of the Distinguished Lecture Series sponsored by the Human Rights and National Security Law Program, will be held at 4 p.m. in room 127. Free and all are welcome.

Chesney is a graduate of Texas Christian University and of Harvard Law School. Among his endeavors, he is the founder and moderator of "nationalsecuritylaw" (a listserv for professors and professionals) and a member of the board of directors for the Center on Law, Ethics, and National Security at Duke University. He has presented papers and lectures at a number of academic and military conferences, has received law of war training as a civilian guest at the JAG's Legal Center and School, and has participated in inspection tours of the detention facility at Guantanamo Bay in both 2005 and 2007. For more information, call the Law School at 757-221-1840 (lawcom@wm.edu).

JORDAN J. PAUST, Baker Law Center Professor of International Law at the University of Houston Law Center, will present a lecture titled "Human Rights at Stake in the War on Terror" at 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, September 27, in room 127 at the Law School. The talk is free and open to the public and is part of the Distinguished Lecture Series sponsored by the Human Rights and National Security Law Program.

Paust received an AB and JD from UCLA, an LL.M. from the University of Virginia, and is a JSD Candidate at Yale University. In addition to the numerous books he has authored or co-authored in the areas of international law and human rights, Paust has published over 150 articles, book chapters, papers and essays in law journals around the world - many of which address treaties, customary international law, jurisdiction, human rights, international crimes, and the incorporation of international law into U.S. domestic law. For more information, call the Law School at 757-221-1840 (lawcom@wm.edu).

The 53rd annual WILLIAM & MARY TAX CONFERENCE will be held Thursday and Friday, November 8-9, 2007, at the Conference Center of the Kingsmill Resort. The conference is sponsored by the Law School and the Mason School of Business at the College of William & Mary. Titled "Tax Free Planning in a Taxable World," the conference will include panel discussions on tax planning for the philanthropically minded business owner; opportunities and pitfalls under sections 351 and 721; grantor trusts revisited – a planning update; navigating uncharted waters: the new charitable entity legislation; preparing for tax litigation after FIN 48; primer on energy credits; recent developments in federal income tax; and creative instructions for the disposition of real estate including an update on section 1031 transactions. If you are interested in attending, please contact Cassi Fritzius

WRITING COMPETITIONS

Note: Throughout the academic year we receive announcements regarding essay competitions and invitations to submit papers for publication in law reviews and journals. This information is posted on the bulletin board in OCS, with additional information filed in the Applications Cabinet. In addition to the intellectual and often monetary benefits of these contests, the competitions are another way for you to demonstrate your legal writing abilities to prospective employers. Because they are often sponsored by bar associations and other professional groups, they also provide excellent networking opportunities. Keep in mind that faculty members are a good source of ideas and guidance.

The ABA Law Student Division is now accepting entry forms for the following competitions:

Client Counseling Competition (entry deadline October 26, 2007) and National Appellate Advocacy Competition (entry deadline November 9, 2007).

Details about the competitions, as well as online entry forms, can be found on the Competitions website at www.abanet.org/lsc/competitions/.

The William E. Swope Antitrust Writing Competition instituted by Jones Day awards one $10,000 prize and two $1,500 honorable mention prizes each year. The competition is open to all currently enrolled students in a Juris Doctor program at a law school accredited by AALS. Papers must be the product of a single author's original thought and scholarship, should be of publishable quality, and should emphasize practical analysis of antitrust problems. All entries must be received before midnight on December 31, 2007. For more information and details, see the bulletin board in OCS.

American Indian Law Writing Competition This writing competition is open to students at accredited law schools in the U.S and Canada. Papers will be accepted on any issue concerning American Indian Law. The first place award is $1,000 and publication of paper in the American Indian Law Review, an official periodical of the University of Oklahoma College of Law. There is also a second place prize of $500 and a third place prize of $250. Papers must be submitted by January 31, 2008. For details and more information, go to <http://www.law.ou.edu> or see the Writing Competition bulletin board.
