Dear Alumni and Friends,

I had the honor of sharing the news of the For the Bold campaign’s resounding success on July 1, my first official day as your dean. As celebrated in this report, the Law School raised $86.2 million, a result far in excess of the original $75 million goal. Your immense generosity included more than $37 million for law student scholarships, more than $35 million for the school’s most pressing needs, and almost $6 million for law professorships. Giving across all schools and programs at William & Mary totaled $1.04 billion, an amazing final tally.

Leadership of the Law School’s campaign rested on the shoulders of Dean Davison M. Douglas, Campaign Chair James D. Penny ’83 and the members of the Steering Committee. They evidenced incredible vision and dedication. A bold campaign required bold leaders!

Bold leadership and vision were hallmarks of all of Dean Douglas’s endeavors. During his 11-year tenure, the Law School recruited more than a dozen world-class legal scholars and teachers, established the Hixon Center for Experiential Learning and Leadership and expanded the clinical and externship programs. He also ably stewarded the Law School through the early and uncertain weeks of the pandemic in the final semester of his deanship. Following the conclusion of his service as dean, I worked closely over the summer with a wonderful team of faculty, staff and administrators to ensure we could offer extensive and high-quality remote instruction and limited in-person instruction to students this fall under conditions that promote health and safety.

I thank Dean Douglas for a job well done and for his unstinting and selfless service to this community. I am delighted that he will continue to teach and produce impactful scholarship as a member of our faculty for years to come.

As some of you may know, I grew up in Hampton Roads, not far from William & Mary. My forebears were enslaved people and my grandmother labored as a domestic throughout her life. Their descendants include lawyers: my father, a Harvard Law School graduate and federal judge, and me. I am honored to serve as the first African-American dean of America’s first law school.

I have always believed that being a lawyer is about more than earning a living. As lawyers, we are uniquely trained to be able to make a difference. That is why William & Mary Law School was founded: to educate and train highly skilled, ethical lawyers who will contribute to the public good. I want our students to have heart, to have soul, to have that commitment to community and to service. That is what differentiates William & Mary from other law schools: its reputation for educating talented lawyers who care.

Of our university values, excellence resonates the most with me. It is the standard that William & Mary lives by and is what this school exemplifies in legal education. That is why I came here. I did not come to make William & Mary Law School excellent, I came here because it is excellent. I think this is the best law school in the country and the world needs to know it.

This school has a bright future ahead and I am excited to be part of it.

A. Benjamin Spencer
Dean and Chancellor Professor of Law

Of our university values, excellence resonates the most with me. It is the standard that William & Mary lives by and is what this school exemplifies in legal education. That is why I came here. I did not come to make William & Mary Law School excellent, I came here because it is excellent. I think this is the best law school in the country and the world needs to know it.
In 2011, the Law School embarked on an ambitious effort to raise $75 million by 2020 as part of William & Mary’s For the Bold campaign. You more than answered our call, not only helping meet our goal two years early with your generosity and volunteer efforts, but providing an additional $11 million in gifts and commitments by the end of the campaign. Because of you, we are able to admit the best and most promising students and provide them with much-needed scholarships, upgrade our technology to deliver a law education for the 21st century, bring leading experts to campus for symposia, conferences and lectures, and grow our endowment for the future. Just as important, you help our new dean, Ben Spencer, as he begins the Law School’s next exciting chapter.

Thank you for the many ways that you support this and future generations of William & Mary law students. We have said it many times before, but never with more certainty: Our best days lie ahead of us!

The For the Bold campaign came to a triumphant close on June 30, raising $1.04 billion across the university. Of that total, the Law School raised $86.2 million.

That result represents some amazing opportunities, and includes more than $37 million going to law student scholarships, more than $35 million to fund the Law School’s most pressing needs, and nearly $6 million supporting law professorships.
BOLD MOMENTS

For the Bold has proven to be an audacious undertaking for the Law School. What follows are some of the many Bold Moments during this transformative campaign.

Timothy P. Dunn and his wife, Ellen R. Stofan, who received their undergraduate degrees from William & Mary in 1983, establish the H. Stewart Dunn, Jr. Civil Liberties Project at the university through one of the first gifts made for the campaign. An interdisciplinary effort that honors Dunn’s father, H. Stewart Dunn, Jr., the Project brings noted speakers—such as Erwin Chemerinsky, Dean of Berkeley Law (pictured)—to campus to provide a deeper understanding of civil liberties and encourage students to become civically engaged in supporting and defending them.

Under the leadership of Dixie and Henry Wolf ’64, J.D. ’66, William & Mary alumni and friends of former Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court Sandra Day O’Connor commit funds to create the Sandra Day O’Connor Professorship in the American Legal System. In October 2015, Neal E. Devins, then Director of the Institute of Bill of Rights Law, is celebrated as the inaugural holder of this endowed chair. Please visit page 27 for a list of the professorships made possible by gifts during the campaign.

The William & Mary community gathers in the Sunken Garden in October 2015 to publicly launch the $1 billion For the Bold campaign, the most ambitious fundraising effort in the university’s then 323-year history. The Law School’s goal, originally targeted at $50 million, is announced as an ambitious $75 million. (Photo courtesy of Eric Lusher, Lusher Productions)
A gift of $44 million to William & Mary Law School and the Raymond A. Mason School of Business is announced during the campaign launch as part of a $50 million anonymous commitment, the largest in the university’s history. At the Law School, the gift creates an endowment to fund student scholarships, teaching awards and a conference that brings law and business leaders to campus. It also spurs the creation of the McGlothlin Scholarship Challenge, which matches contributions toward scholarships, enabling the Law School to offer student aid packages that are competitive with other top-ranked schools.

During Commencement in May 2016, the inaugural McGlothlin Faculty Teaching Award is bestowed on Professor Allison Orr Larsen. The award recognizes innovative, excellent educators who have demonstrated a sustained commitment to teaching. Subsequent winners are Paul Marcus (2017), Jeffrey Bellin (2018), Stacy Kern-Scheerer (2019) and Eric Kades (2020).

In the midst of a run of 3L classes enjoying 90 percent or more participation rates (beginning with the Class of 2014), the Class of 2016 winds up its 3L Class Gift efforts with a record-breaking 93 percent of the class contributing. In celebration, Dean Douglas joins Law Cappella in entertaining the law school community. In 2019, the LL.M. program begins its own class gift effort.
The Law School dedicates two classrooms in the North Wing in honor of Jake Lutz ‘81 and his wife, Robin, and the Class of 1975. Lutz (at left) makes remarks during the November 2016 event, as do Wayne Lee and Jim Metcalf of the Class of 1975 (at right). The Lutzes supported the Law Dean’s Visionary Fund, which provides unrestricted monies to realize opportunities as they arise. The 1975 Classroom celebrates the class’s 40th reunion gift, which supported the Annual Fund and the ongoing construction of the Hixon Center.

The Law School community celebrates the latest addition to its campus in spring 2017—the two-story, 12,000-square-foot James A. and Robin L. Hixon Center for Experiential Learning and Leadership. A significant gift made by Jim Hixon J.D. ’79, M.L.T. ’80 during the leadership phase of the For the Bold campaign was the catalyst for the center becoming a reality. In addition to his contributions, Pamela Jordan Penny ’77, HON ’16 and James D. Penny ’83 and the Cabell Foundation also provided generous support. A number of the building’s other benefactors were also recognized. Please visit page 27 for a list of all the named spaces made possible by the generosity of alumni and friends and dedicated during the campaign.

A $1 million commitment from Pam and Jim Penny creates the Penny Commons atrium in the Hixon Center. During the campaign, the Pennys establish the Penny Professorship of Law Endowment to support and recognize outstanding faculty and, along with other major donors, lead the way by making substantial commitments to the Davison M. Douglas Professorship of Law Endowment and the Lynda L. Butler Law Scholarship Endowment.
In recognition of the generosity of the Elliott family, the Law School names a special meeting space in the legal clinic suite in memory of the late Robert C. Elliott II ‘69, former chair of the Law School Annual Fund. Second Lieutenant Austin Swink ’17, USMCR (left), shares how the Elliott Interview Room will help (both in-person and virtually) in the day-to-day work of the Lewis B. Puller, Jr. ’74 Veterans Benefits Clinic.

In July 2017, the Law School receives a $5.2 million gift in honor of the late Judge R. William Arthur ‘38, LL.D. ‘40. The gift, from the estate of Arthur’s wife, Dorothy Arthur, supports scholarships for students and other law school priorities. For a list of all the scholarships that were created or enhanced during the campaign, please visit page 26.

During Alumni Weekend 2018, the new courtroom in the Hixon Center is named in recognition of James A. Penney ’83 and Laura Leigh Young. The couple created the Penney and Young Scholarship in Law Endowment and the Class of 1983 William B. Spong Jr. Scholarship in Law Endowment.

The Law School announces in April 2018 that Robert H. Thomas will serve as inaugural Joseph T. Waldo Visiting Chair in Property Rights Law. The chair is named in honor of Joseph T. Waldo ’78, Co-Chair of the school’s annual Brigham-Kanner Property Rights Conference from 2004–2017. Thomas is a director in the firm of Damon Key Leong Kupchak Hastert in Honolulu.

A $1 million bequest during the campaign establishes the T. Howard Spainhour ’54, B.C.L. ’56 and Nancy W. Spainhour Law Scholarship Endowment Fund, which covers tuition and provides a living expense stipend for law students. For a list of other scholarships, see page 26.
The Law School community celebrates the dedication of the Class of 1983 Staircase in the Wolf Law Library. The class contributes $5.26 million in gifts and pledges during their 35th Reunion in 2018 — the highest amount raised at that time by a reunion class. The following year, the Class of 1979 inches ahead with $5.28 million.

The Law School community comes together on Veterans Day 2019 to dedicate a flagpole and patio in honor of our nation’s veterans and in memory of the late Lizbeth A.S. Jackson, Associate Dean for Administration. The flagpole and patio are made possible through the generosity of family, friends, colleagues, students, alumni, P.E.O. Sisters, the Law School and the Virginia Peninsula Chapter of the Military Officers of America.

Although not a graduate of the Law School, pioneering social justice advocate and attorney Sybil Shainwald ’48, LL.D. ’19 establishes the Shainwald Immigration Law Clinic Fund. The fund helps clinic students assist noncitizens in navigating the immigration process, participate in community outreach and education, and conduct policy research and advocacy. Shainwald also returns to the Law School to participate in events sponsored by the William & Mary Journal of Race, Gender and Social Justice.
Ensuring the future financial security of the Law School

During the For the Bold campaign, nearly $28 million in gifts, pledges, bequests and other commitments were made to the Law School. Such provisions are a strong investment in the Law School’s future.

→ Planned Giving supports: Scholarships / Professorships / Academic Programs / Campus Beautification and more.

→ A gift of Endowment is invested “FOREVER”; income from the Endowment is paid annually to support the donor’s objectives; whereas, a gift of Expendable Funds is “FULLY SPENT” to support the donor’s request.

→ The IRS allows significant tax breaks for gifts of Stock.

→ IRAs or other Retirement Plans can be a great way to make a bequest.

→ Gifts of Personal Property can be an immediate tax deduction.

“With planned giving, you have a lot of flexibility to indicate how these funds will be used in the future. You could endow a professorship or scholarships, or leave the funds unrestricted for the university to decide the best use. We’ve chosen to designate our funds to support professorships that we established at the business and law schools as part of the For the Bold campaign.”

JAMES D. PENNY ’83 AND PAMELA JORDAN PENNY ’77, HON ’16

“My late husband, Alvin BA ’70, J.D. ’72, would be happy to know that in addition to continuing our more than 40-year legacy of annual giving, I’ve included our alma mater in my estate plans.”

BETSY CALVO ANDERSON ’70, HON ’15, P ’00

ENDOWMENTS GROWTH

- Value as of JUNE 30, 2020: $79.8 million

NEW CHAPTERS:
DEAN DAVISON M. DOUGLAS &
PROFESSOR LYNDA L. BUTLER

Davison M. Douglas stepped down as dean this past June to return to the faculty and resume work as a scholar and teacher. Douglas led the school since 2009 after serving for nearly two decades as a professor, scholar and administrator. He is the longest serving dean at the Law School over the past 50 years and the ninth-longest serving law dean in the United States. Douglas received a Distinguished Service Award from the National Center for State Courts and was a recipient of the State Council for Higher Education for Virginia award for outstanding faculty, along with numerous other teaching awards.

Lynda L. Butler taught her last class at the Law School in April, concluding a distinguished 41-year career and earning the distinction of being the longest-serving female faculty member at William & Mary. Butler also has the distinction of being one of the first women hired to teach on the law faculty in a full-time, tenure-track position. She served as Vice Dean of the Law School for eight years, and in 2008 became the first woman to serve as Law Dean (albeit interim) in the Commonwealth of Virginia. Butler was honored with a Chancellor Professorship and has served as Director of the William & Mary Property Rights Project and Co-Chair of the President’s Committee on Sustainability.

In addition to their many duties as teachers and scholars, Professors Douglas, Butler, Roberts and Rosenberg share that one strong trait common to William & Mary’s citizen lawyers. They are leaders through and through. And they serve when called. Some (of many) examples:

- Before he became Dean, Davison Douglas was Director and co-founder of the Election Law Program and Director of the Institute of Bill of Rights Law;
- Lynda Butler served W&M as President of the Faculty Assembly and still serves as Director of the William & Mary Property Rights Project;
- Patricia Roberts was the inaugural President of the Board of Directors of the National Law School Veterans Clinic Consortium, and Commissioner on the American Bar Association’s inaugural Veterans Legal Services Initiative.
- Ronald Rosenberg served the Commonwealth of Virginia on the Chesapeake Bay Local Assistance Board and the Virginia Offshore Wind Development Authority.
NEW CHAPTERS:
PROFESSOR PATRICIA E. ROBERTS ’92 &
PROFESSOR RONALD ROSENBERG

Professor Patricia E. Roberts ’92 served in many roles for more than 20 years at the Law School. She led the creation of our first in-house clinics, including veterans benefits, elder law, special education, appellate and Supreme Court litigation, and coastal policy. She served as Co-Director of the Lewis B. Puller, Jr. ’84 Veterans Benefits Clinic and as Director of both the Puller Clinic and the Special Education Advocacy Clinic. She also created the Military Mondays program, piloted in coordination with Starbucks’ Armed Forces Network. She served as Vice Dean from 2017 to 2020. On June 1, she became the 10th dean of St. Mary’s School of Law in San Antonio, Texas.

Before retiring with nearly 40 years of service at William & Mary, Ron Rosenberg was known as a builder of lawyers, legislation, academic programs and communities and relationships. Under his leadership, the LL.M. program grew dramatically, educating more than 500 foreign lawyers, and hundreds of visiting foreign scholars spent time in residence due to the establishment of a visiting scholar program. He also served as President of the university’s Faculty Assembly. In recognition of his many accomplishments as a professor, Rosenberg was awarded the Chancellor Professorship in 2010.

Please consider thanking Dean Douglas and Professors Butler, Roberts and Rosenberg for their years of service to the legal profession and to thousands of law students by allocating your gifts and pledges to initiatives that are the most meaningful to them.

REUNION GIVING

We missed having alumni here to celebrate their reunions in April. Although COVID-19 impacted all our plans and lives, members of reunion classes showed extraordinary commitment to their class gift drives. Thank you to everyone who was able to make a gift prior to June 30 and to the reunion chairs and their committees who rallied their classmates.
