The Institute of Bill of Rights Law Presents:

Supreme Court Preview 1998
September 25-26, 1998

WHAT TO EXPECT FROM THE 1998-99 TERM
WHAT TO EXPECT FROM THE 1998-99 TERM

Most Americans get their information concerning difficult constitutional issues from press coverage. This conference will preview the most interesting cases on the Supreme Court's docket for the 1998-99 term, and explore the future direction of the Court, with the goal of assisting writers and broadcasters in providing thoughtful reporting commentary on newsworthy cases as they are argued and decided.

The program will feature a spontaneous "press conference" format where panels of seasoned journalists and legal scholars will discuss such issues as privacy, equality, and free speech in the context of cases currently before the Court. In addition, the conference will open with one case being heard as a "Moot Court."

We will offer CLE credit for participants of the conference. Up to 7 hours may be earned with the exception of ethics.

For more information about the conference or CLE credit, please contact the Institute of Bill of Rights Law at:
