THE DEPARTMENT OF JURISPRUDENCE¹

Professors: DUDLEY WARNER WOODBRIDGE, Dean of the Department; JOSEPH MARSHALL CORMACK, ARTHUR WARREN PHELPS. Associate Professor: JOSEPH CURTIS. Assistant Professor: ²CHARLES HARPER ANDERSON. Lecturers: ³WESLEY RANDOLPH COFER, ERNEST WHITMORE GOODRICH, JOHN MILTON HOLLIS, CHARLES PHINEAS SHERMAN, DONALD RAY TAYLOR. Acting Law Librarian: CHESTER STOYLE BAKER.

History

The Department of Jurisprudence, formerly called the School of Law, was established December 4, 1779, when, by resolution, the Board of Visitors created a professorship of Law and Police. Antedated only by the Vinerian professorship at Oxford, established twenty-one years earlier and held by Sir William Blackstone, the chair of law at the College of William and Mary thus became the second in the English-speaking world and the oldest in the United States.

The part played by Thomas Jefferson in placing law among the subjects taught at his Alma Mater is told briefly in his Autobiography.⁴

On the 1st of June, 1779, I was appointed [elected] Governor of the Commonwealth and retired from the legislature. Being elected also one of the Visitors of Wm. & Mary College, a self-electing body, I effected during my residence in Williamsburg that year, a change in the organization of that institution by abolishing the Grammar School, and the two professorships of Divinity & Oriental languages, and substituting a professorship of Law & Police, one of Anatomy, Medicine and Chemistry, and one of Modern Languages; and the charter confining us to six professorships, we added the law of Nature & Nations, & the Fine Arts to the Duties of the Moral professor, and Natural history to those of the professor of Mathematics and Natural philosophy.

The Board of Visitors elected as the first law professor George Wythe in whose office Jefferson had studied. A signer of the Declaration of Independence and styled by Jefferson the American Aristides, Wythe was a judge of the Virginia High Court of Chancery and one of the earliest judges to enunciate the doctrine of judicial review.

The elevation of Wythe to the sole chancellorship of Virginia, ten years after the chair of law was established, necessitated his removal to Richmond and his resignation from the faculty. He was succeeded by St. George Tucker, whose edition of Blackstone is a legal classic and one of the first law books published in America. Among the last to hold the professorship at Williamsburg prior to 1861 was Lucian Minor, a member of another Virginia family intimately associated with the law.

⁴ Ford's edition, I, 69-70.

Soon after its foundation, and probably from the very beginning, the law school of the college of William and Mary demanded an academic baccalaureate degree as a requirement for a law degree, the College statutes compiled in 1792 providing:

For the degree of Bachelor of Law, the student must have the requisites for Bachelor of Arts; he must moreover be well acquainted with Civil History, both Ancient and Modern, and particularly with Municipal law and police.

In May 1861, with the closing of the College, because of the exigencies of war, the law school ceased to function. When the College resumed operation, financial stringency resulted in the granting of leaves of absence to some of the Faculty. Among these was the Professor of Law. This leave of absence continued indefinitely. During the precarious years in the life of the College following the Civil War, the Law School remained largely dormant. Its revival, begun in 1920, was completed with the session of 1922-23. Subsequently it was renamed the Department of Jurisprudence to indicate the additional function which it performs by supplementing the study of Economics, Business Administration, Government, History, and Sociology.

As a result of the integration and correlation of courses and the close cooperation with other departments of the College, the Department of Jurisprudence functions as a Department of the College in relation to students who are using Jurisprudence as their field of concentration for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, and in relation to students who wish to offer courses in Jurisprudence as electives toward an academic degree; in relation to students who are proceeding to the law degree, the Department of Jurisprudence functions as a professional school.

The Department of Jurisprudence is registered by the State Department of Education of the University of the State of New York, is approved by the American Bar Association, and is a member of the Association of American Law Schools.

Library

The Library of the Department of Jurisprudence, occupying the third floor of the College library, contains approximately 15,645 volumes. The Law Library is administered by a Law Librarian with student assistants and during the regular session observes the same hours as the College Library.

Miscellaneous Information

Method of Instruction. While each instructor has full liberty to adopt his own method of teaching, the plan most generally used consists of the discussion of cases and legal problems. Students are encouraged from the beginning to make the fullest use of the law library.

Scholarships and Prizes. For information concerning the Matthew Gault Emery Law Scholarship and the William A. Hamilton Prize see pages 65 and 68.

Admission Requirements

The following persons may be admitted to courses in Jurisprudence :

1. Students holding an academic baccalaureate degree from an institution of approved standing may enter the Department of Jurisprudence and take any subject approved by the Dean of the Department; provided, however, that students who expect to become candidates¹ for the degree of Bachelor of Civil Law shall follow the regular course of study.

2. Students of academic senior standing, who select Jurisprudence as a field of concentration, may apply a maximum of thirty-one semester credits in Jurisprudence (one year's work) toward the degree of Bachelor of Arts, provided the course is approved by the Dean of the Department. A student who desires to apply one year's work in Jurisprudence toward the degree of Bachelor of Arts must have had at least 89 hours in liberal arts work and must have earned 89 quality points in other than legal subjects. (In regard to commencing the study of Jurisprudence during the junior year, see 3 below.)

3. Students of academic junior standing, who have completed satisfactorily at least one-half of their work toward a degree in liberal arts subjects in an institution of approved standing, and who wish to apply one year of law toward the degree of Bachelor of Arts as provided in 2 above, may take a maximum of sixteen credits in Jurisprudence during the junior year (the remainder to be taken during the senior year), provided the course is approved by the Dean of the Department.

4. Subject to the provisions stated in 2 and 3 above respectively, students of academic junior and senior standing may take, as electives, subjects in Jurisprudence approved by the Dean of the Department.

5. In exceptional cases within the discretion of the Faculty of the Department, persons who fail to meet the above requirements, may be admitted as special students² and may take subjects in Jurisprudence approved by the Dean of the Department, but under no other circumstances may a student who has not completed satisfactorily at least one-half of his work toward an academic baccalaureate degree take any subject in Jurisprudence.

Concentration in Jurisprudence and the Combined Six Years' Course

Jurisprudence constitutes an approved field of concentration for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Students concentrating in Jurisprudence are required to consult with the Dean of the Department before selecting specific courses.

While no specific academic subjects, apart from the general requirements for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, are required by the Department of Jurisprudence as preparation for law, students who expect to concentrate in Jurisprudence or proceed to the law degree are urged to complete the general degree requirements before commencing their work in Jurisprudence. It is recommended that such students consult with the Dean of the Department as early in their college careers as possible regarding the scope and distribution of their academic work.

By selecting Jurisprudence as a field of concentration and applying one year's work in Jurisprudence toward the degree of Bachelor of Arts, students may secure the degree of Bachelor of Civil Law in two more years.

Tax Work for Law Students

Law students who wish to obtain the Master of Arts degree in Taxation should plan to spend at least one additional year in residence and must include the following courses or their equivalents in their programs in addition to the courses required for the Bachelor of Civil Law degree: Business 201, 202 and Business 301, 302 or Legal Accounting, Economics 301, 302, Economics 331, Economics 421, 422, Government 341, and all the courses in Taxation offered by the Department of Jurisprudence.

Law students who wish to specialize in tax law but who do not wish to do work in residence for an extra year may, by careful planning, include the major portion of the tax program in their regular six year combined course. All such students should seek the advice of the Dean of the Department of Jurisprudence early in their college career.

Advanced Credit

Within the discretion of the Faculty of the Department, credit may be allowed for subjects satisfactorily completed at approved law schools, not to exceed the equivalent of sixty semester hours.

Exclusion Because of Poor Scholarship

Any student who has been admitted to candidacy for the degree of Bachelor of Civil Law and who does not maintain a quality point average of at least 1.0, or who fails more than five hours in any semester will be permitted to continue his course only with the consent of the Faculty of the Department.

Degree Requirements

Students holding an academic baccalaureate degree from an institution of approved standing, who have been in residence* in the Department of Jurisprudence for three academic years (or, in case advanced credit has been allowed have been in residence in this school at least during their third and last year), who have completed satisfactorily at least 90 semester credits in Jurisprudence, or their equivalent, with a quality point average of 1.0 or better in all the work undertaken, and who have demonstrated their ethical fitness, will receive the degree of Bachelor of Civil Law (B.C.L.), the historic law degree of the College of William and Mary in Virginia.

* Under the rules of the Association of American Law Schools a student is not permitted to finish his degree requirements in a period of less than 90 weeks of actual physical residence.

Course of Study for the Degree of Bachelor of Civil Law

The course of study is based on the concept of Law as a social institution in a modern world. It is divided into the following parts: I. History and Nature of Law; II. Private Law; III. Public Law; IV. Procedure; V. Legal Method; VI. Social Function and Ethics of Law.

So far as practicable, there is a consolidation, correlation, and integration of subject matter. While the field of private law receives adequate consideration, there also is a definite emphasis on public law. This is in accord with the general trend in judicial and administrative processes. In addition, the history and philosophy of the Law is treated, as well as the position of law in society.

The Degree of Master of Arts in Taxation

In order to help meet the need of trained men in the field of taxation, the Department of Jurisprudence in co-operation with the Departments of Business Administration, Economics and Government has instituted a program of studies leading to a degree of Master of Arts in Taxation. This course of study is designed for students of exceptional ability who are doing the major portion of their work in Business, Economics, or Jurisprudence, and who wish to receive this special preparation for their entry into this comparatively new sphere of opportunity and service.

To be eligible for this degree, the candidate must have completed the requirements for a baccalaureate degree and must pursue his studies satisfactorily for at least one more year. The usual rules with respect to graduate work for a Master's degree are applicable.

Program for combined Course in Business Administration and Taxation, leading to an A.B. degree in Business Administration (with satisfaction of academic requirements for admission to Certified Public Accountant examination) and Master of Arts degree in Taxation.
