

Misinformation in the media is a problem with multiple causes and no single solution.

The First Amendment protects freedom of speech and press from government control, but does not address the variety and accountability of media sources.

The Digital Citizenship and Media Literacy Act was reintroduced by Amy Klobuchar in October 2022 to provide federal funding to K-12 schools for media literacy education support.