Summer School of Law in England

ACCREDITED COURSES IN AMERICAN, ENGLISH AND COMPARATIVE LAW

July 6-August 14, 1970

Marshall-Wythe School of Law
COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY on the Campus of
THE UNIVERSITY OF EXETER
EXETER ☆ DEVON ☆ ENGLAND
In the summer of 1967, as an extension of its established student and faculty exchange program with the University of Exeter in England, the College of William and Mary in Virginia inaugurated a Summer School of Law in England. Utilizing the physical facilities of the University of Exeter and the resources of the law library of the University’s Faculty of Law, the College’s Marshall-Wythe School of Law offered courses which were particularly appropriate for study in the surroundings of common law origins. Thus a number of American law students have been afforded a unique opportunity to earn credit, normally transferable to their home institutions, in the course of a summer of study in the homeland of Anglo-American jurisprudence. Courses taught by both English and American faculty were enriched by guest speakers and by visits to trial and appellate courts.
SCHEDULE

The 1970 Summer school program will consist of a single six-week term. Courses of 1, 2 and 3 semester hours credit will be offered. Number of class meetings and duration of classes will be in accordance with the requirements of the Association of American Law Schools, and regular class attendance will be expected. A course load not in excess of 6 semester hours is recommended. Weeks of residence credit will be given commensurate with the number of semester hours credit carried. Credit will be given by the College of William and Mary the same as if the courses were being offered on the Williamsburg campus. All other law schools having students at Exeter approved transfer credit for the courses given in 1967, 1968, and 1969.

FACILITIES

Living accommodations, including room and board, and all regular classes will be offered at Crossmead Hall, formerly a private estate and now operated by the University of Exeter in the suburbs of Exeter (pop. 90,000). A suitable working library is maintained at Crossmead for collateral reading in the courses offered, and the law library of the University is available for use by students in the summer program.

ENGLISH LEGAL INSTITUTIONS

One of the primary advantages of the program of Summer School of Law in England is the opportunity to enrich the student’s knowledge of American legal institutions and procedure by a comparison with English institutions which have developed out of the same cultural and jurisprudential background. Some course offerings are exclusively comparative, but all of them are oriented toward a continuing dialogue on comparative principles. In many courses, visiting lecturers will develop comparative aspects of the subject-matter. Visits to courts and other legal institutions will afford opportunity to observe English law in action.
COURSES IN AMERICAN, ENGLISH AND COMPARATIVE LAW

Courses will be taught by regular members of the faculties of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law and of the University of Exeter, with visiting lecturers and panelists as opportunity permits. Subject to enrollment and availability of faculty, the following courses are tentatively scheduled for the 1970 Summer Program. Courses meeting 80 minutes daily will carry three semester hours credit; those meeting one hour daily will carry two semester hours credit, and those meeting for 65 minutes on alternate days, one hour credit.

ELIGIBILITY

The program of the Summer School of Law in England is open to any American law student, over the age of twenty-one years, in good standing at a law school approved by the American Bar Association. There are facilities for single men, single women and married students. Normally, an applicant will have completed or be in the process of completing at least one year of law study, although exceptional cases varying from the norm will be considered.

In filing an application for the 1970 summer program, a student must submit with the application certification of good standing from his law school regularly attended.

TUITION AND EXPENSES

Registration fee (non-refundable) $25.00
Tuition ........................................ 250.00
Room and board at Crossmead Hall ................. 240.00

The registration fee is payable upon filing the application. It will be refunded only in the event that the application is not accepted due to full enrollment.
DEADLINES FOR APPLICANTS

March 15, 1970 — Last date for submitting applications. The form on the last two pages of this announcement, or a letter containing the same data, may be used. It must be accompanied by (1) the $25 registration fee, (2) the certificate of good standing from the law school presently attended, and (3) completed preregistration forms.

March 31, 1970 — Applicants will be notified of acceptance or rejection of their applications.

April 15, 1970 — Payment of $240 for room and board at Crossmead. This payment is not refundable unless a waiting-list applicant purchases the accommodations.

May 15, 1970 — Full payment of tuition. Tuition is refundable thereafter only if applicant is unable to attend for reasons of sickness or military service obligation.

TRANSPORTATION ARRANGEMENTS

The College of William and Mary accepts no responsibility for transportation of participants in the program of Summer School of Law in England. It is anticipated, however, that charter plane flights will be available, and as plans for such flights materialize a special information sheet will be sent to applicants. The 1969 charter flight was arranged at a cost of approximately $245 per person, so that this figure may be used as a general estimate of the probable cost for a similar flight in 1970.

RECREATIONAL FACILITIES

The cultural opportunities attending the program of Summer School of Law in England are manifold and suited to every taste. Exeter, an attractive and ancient cathedral town, is located in Devon, in southwestern England, only a few miles from the South Devon coast with its excellent beaches. Rapid (3 hours) train connections to London run several times daily. In addition to regular trips to sites and activities of professional interest, a number of events are planned for wives and families.
