THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY IN VIRGINIA
Marshall-Wythe School of Law
THE SUMMER SCHOOL OF LAW
IN ENGLAND — ITS ORIGIN AND PURPOSE

The College of William and Mary in Virginia has had significant relationships with England throughout its history. The College was chartered in 1693 by the reigning sovereigns, William and Mary, whose name it bears. The College’s first building was constructed in 1695 from plans attributed to the renowned English architect, Sir Christopher Wren, builder of St. Paul’s Cathedral in London. Through the efforts of Thomas Jefferson, an alumnus of the College, a chair of Law and Police was established December 4, 1779, thus making William and Mary the first to offer instruction in law in the United States.

In more recent years the College’s continuing relationship with England and its educational institutions has been evidenced by an active student and faculty exchange program, and by establishment of the Summer School of Law in England in 1967 on the campus of the University of Exeter in Devonshire.

Modern dormitories, dining hall, and the classrooms of Exeter’s campus, as well as the law library of the University, were made available. In addition, distinguished members of the faculty of the University’s School of Law agreed to teach some of the courses offered. The program has been further enriched by prominent speakers from the English Bench and Bar, as well as by visits to the Inns of Court, to English courts when in session, and to historic landmarks in the development of Anglo-American law — Runnymede, Westminster Hall, the Star Chamber, Parliament, and Old Bailey.

Since American and English legal systems developed from the same cultural history, one of the primary advantages of the program is the opportunity to enrich understanding of American legal institutions by a comparison with the English legal system. Emphasis is also placed on English legal history and international law.

CURRICULUM AND CREDITS

The Summer Law School in England, as an extension of the Williamsburg campus, is fully accredited. The 1974 program will consist of one six-week term with 13 courses. Class meetings and duration of classes will be in accordance with the requirements of the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools and regular class attendance will be expected. A course load not in excess of seven semester hours is recommended. Residence credit will be given commensurate with the number of semester hours credit carried. The Marshall-Wythe School of Law will give the same credits as if the course were being offered on the Williamsburg campus. All other law schools having students at previous sessions have approved the transfer of credits for the course taken by their students.

LIVING FACILITIES

There are separate residence facilities for men, women, and married students without children in the dormitories on the campus. Faculty and students take their meals at a cafeteria near the dormitories. The available prices demand that all in attendance occupy campus facilities.

RECREATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

The cultural opportunities attending the program of Summer School of Law in England are suited to every taste. In addition to travel opportunities, Exeter is an attractive and ancient cathedral town only a few miles from the excellent beaches of South Devon coast. Direct, fast train service to London is available several times daily. Tennis, golf, sailing and other athletic facilities are available.

ELIGIBILITY

The program of the Summer School of Law in England is open to any American law student in good standing at a law school approved by the American Bar Association and to graduates of approved law schools. Applicants must have completed or be in the process of completing at least one year of law study. In applying for the 1974 summer program, an applicant must submit with the application, a transcript or statement of good standing from his law school or evidence of graduation from an ABA-approved law school.

TUITION AND EXPENSES

Registration fee (non-refundable) $25.00
Tuition ................................................ $325.00
Room and board* .................................... $325.00

*Includes three meals M-F and breakfast Saturday and Sunday. Weekend lunches and dinners may be purchased separately.
DEADLINES FOR APPLICANTS

March 15, 1974 - Last date for submitting applications. Because of the limited enrollment, however, it is recommended that applications be filed well in advance of this date since, in fairness, they will be processed and qualified applicants accepted in the order their applications are received. The forms on the last two pages of this Bulletin should be used.

April 15, 1974 - Full payment of tuition. Tuition is refundable thereafter only if applicant is unable to attend for verified reasons of illness or military service obligation.

May, 15 1974 - Payment of $325 for room and board. This payment is not refundable unless a waiting-list applicant purchases the accommodations.

TRANSPORTATION

The College of William and Mary accepts no responsibility for transportation of participants in the program of Summer School of Law in England. While in past years group flights have been arranged on regularly scheduled airlines, current uncertainty of group, youth and charter-flight fares has made it presently impossible to quote reasonable estimates of transportation cost. If definite transportation cost information becomes available or if group flights can be arranged, those attending the Summer Session will be notified promptly. Meanwhile those planning to attend the Summer Session should make their own travel arrangements. Most convenient would be a flight to London thence by train to Exeter.
CURRICULUM AND PROGRAM NOTES

Common Market Law
Two courses in the Law of the European Economic Community (the Common Market) were introduced into the curriculum of the Summer School of Law in England, and will be offered annually henceforth. These courses provide American students with a general view of the legal, political and economic institutions of the Common Market as these were analyzed preparatory to the entry of the United Kingdom into the EEC. The University of Exeter has pioneered in these courses, which have attracted wide attention from members of the British Bar.

Centre for European Legal Studies
This specialized research agency of the law faculty of the University of Exeter was established in 1972, primarily to coordinate teaching, research and training of practicing lawyers in European Economic Community law. Its broader objectives are to develop a systematic study of civil law, comparative and international law. It offers advanced work leading to the LL.M. degree, and its general program is expected to be systematically coordinated with the work of the Summer School of Law.

Comparative and International Law
Among the faculty members selected for the annual Summer School of Law are specialists in such subjects as civil law, international public and private law, international business transactions, and comparative law. The opportunity to study these subjects from the perspective of English legal practice, which regularly comes into contact with legal institutions in these same subject areas, has proved particularly beneficial to American law students in the past.

English Legal Institutions
An understanding of the common law system, in the mother country of the common law, is one of the obvious goals of the Summer School of Law in England. In addition to basic course work on English legal history and the legal system, many of the basic American law courses which are included in the summer curriculum are structured by their teachers to stress the comparisons with the English law in the subject.

Anglo-American Common Law

Most of the courses offered by the William and Mary faculty are basic courses with an emphasis upon the common law heritage of the subject. Administrative law, criminal law, constitutional law and similar subjects which have been offered in past summers have all been designed by the faculty to provide bases for comparison with English law and practice. Lectures by members of the British bench and bar augment many of these courses.
