CLASSES MONDAY THROUGH THURSDAY

THE COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY IN VIRGINIA

Marshall-Wythe School of Law
THE SUMMER SCHOOL OF LAW IN ENGLAND
ITS ORIGIN AND PURPOSE

The College of William and Mary in Virginia has had significant relationships with England throughout its history. The College was chartered in 1693 by the reigning sovereigns, William and Mary, whose name it bears. The College's first building was constructed in 1695 from plans attributed to the renowned English architect, Sir Christopher Wren, builder of St. Paul's Cathedral in London. Through the efforts of Thomas Jefferson, an alumnus of the College, a chair of Law and Police was established December 4, 1779, thus making William and Mary the first to offer instruction in law in the United States.

In more recent years the College's continuing relationship with England and its educational institutions has been evidenced by an active student and faculty exchange program, and by establishment of the Summer School of Law in England in 1967 on the campus of the University of Exeter in Devonshire.

The William and Mary Summer School of Law in England was the first, and is still the most extensive American program of summer law study abroad. Consonant with the proud heritage of the College, the goal of the program is to provide law instruction in the finest tradition of liberal education. A broad, attractive curriculum is taught by a large faculty of British and American teachers, expert in their fields. Concurrently, the academic and social associations with British members of the legal profession and students from other countries, and the opportunity to learn of the legal, political and social practices of British society through living and travelling in England, provide a uniquely rich cultural experience for the American law student. Over one thousand future lawyers from virtually every accredited law school in the nation have attended the William and Mary Summer Law School in England. There they secured a decidedly broader "world view" of the law and their role as lawyers. This broadening of intellectual perspective is the hallmark of a liberal education, and the "alumni" of this program have carried that broadened perspective into the practice of law, business and politics. The Marshall-Wythe School of Law is proud of this unique educational service to the nation.

Distinguished members of the faculty of Exeter University School of Law agreed to teach some of the courses offered. The program has been further enriched by prominent speakers from the English Bench and Bar, as well as a clerk ing course with British firms.

CURRICULUM AND CREDITS

The Summer Law School in England, as an extension of the Williamsburg campus, is fully accredited. The 1983 program will consist of one five-week term with 8 courses. Class meetings and duration of classes will be in accordance with the requirements of the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools. Regular class attendance will be expected. A maximum course load is six semester hours. Residence credit will be given commensurate with the number of semester hours credit carried. The Marshall-Wythe School of Law will give the same credits as if the course were being offered on the Williamsburg campus. Law schools having students at previous sessions have approved the transfer of credits for the courses taken by their students. It is urged, however, that registrants clear this matter with their Dean's office at time of application to the program.

ACADEMIC NOTES

The law faculty of the University of Exeter established in 1972 the Centre for European Legal Studies primarily to coordinate teaching, research and training of practicing lawyers in European Economic Community law. Its broader objectives are to develop a systematic study of civil law, comparative and international law. It offers advanced work leading to the LL.M. degree, and its general program is expected to be systematically coordinated with the work of the Summer School of Law. The University of Exeter School of Law has pioneered in this area, and its courses have attracted wide attention from members of the British Bar.

Among the faculty members selected for the annual summer school of law are specialists in such subjects as international public and private law, international business transactions, civil law, and comparative law. Professor Dominik Lasok, Director of the Centre, is an internationally recognized authority on European law, having written some 100 articles on Comparative and International Law and European Community Law as well as several books in his field of expertise. He has been a visiting lecturer and visiting professor at various universities, including Vanderbilt, McGill, University of Michigan, William and Mary, Aix-Marseille and several others.

Professor David L. Perrott, a prolific writer with more than twenty articles to his credit, is an expert in the field of International Commercial Law and European Community Law of Commerce as well as Sudanese personal property law. He has taught at several universities, including the University of Illinois and has been on the faculty of Exeter University since 1965. He has been consultant to the British Government and the Commission of the EC on proposed, and the workings of existing, commercial legislation.

Professor John W. Bridge, on the faculty of the University of Exeter since 1961, has written numerous articles in the field of public law, particularly constitutional law, administrative law, European law and international law. His work has been published in American, English and European law reviews; he is also the author of several books in his fields of expertise.

One of the objectives of the Summer School of Law in England is to provide an understanding of the common law system, in the mother country of the common law. In addition to basic course work in the English legal system, many of the American law courses in the same curriculum emphasize comparisons with English law.

The legal clerking course affords the student an insight to the British practitioner’s daily routine in the various aspects of the practice, including research, client consultation and courtroom experience. Discussion of the legal issues involved in the cases being handled gives the student the benefit of the British approach to legal analysis.
CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

Exeter is an attractive and ancient cathedral city only 12 miles from the beaches of the South Devon coast. The Cathedral is a superb example of the Decorated Gothic Style (1280-1370), with Norman transept towers unique in England. The Guildhall, dating from 1397, was reconstructed in the Elizabethan era. The city also has Roman remains and is home to the University of Exeter, one of the leading universities in the UK.

Day trips by bus at reasonable rates are available to Dartmouth, Totnes, and other interesting sites in Devon. Weekend trips are available to Penzance (Cornwall's principal town), Bath, Tintagel Castle (believed to be King Arthur's castle), St. Ives, and Stonehenge. Direct, fast train service to London is available several times daily. Classes are scheduled Monday through Thursday, thus three day weekends will be available for extended sightseeing trips.

TRANSPORTATION

Applicants should make their own travel arrangements. Please see the 'Studying and Living in Exeter' pamphlet for information on the various types of low fare flights available through your travel agent.

LIVING FACILITIES

Modern dormitories, dining hall, and classrooms of Exeter's campus, as well as the law library of the University of Exeter School of Law, are available for the program's use. Within walking distance of the Law School building is the Lạtrowa residential complex used by the Summer School of Law in England. The Lạtrowa complex is a recently constructed residence facility for single men and women and for married students and their families.

All rooms are single rooms. Couples and families are furnished two rooms, one to be used as a bedroom and the other as a living room. Families with children are furnished three or more rooms.

Each floor has a kitchen and bathroom facilities used in common by residents. Linens and daily maid services are supplied. Coin operated washers and dryers are in the Lạtrowa complex and dry cleaning facilities are within walking distance.

TUITION AND EXPENSES

Notwithstanding a high inflation rate in Britain, we were able to convince the University of Exeter authorities to hold the room and board fees approximately to the same level as that of the prior year. These actions are in keeping with our traditional objective of offering our program the most reasonable charges to enable the greatest number of students to participate.

DEADLINES FOR APPLICANTS

March 15, 1983 - Last date for submitting applications and required supporting documents for those seeking tuition scholarships.

April 15, 1983 - Last date for submitting applications for those not seeking tuition scholarships. Because of the limited enrollment, however, it is recommended that applications be filed well in advance of this date, since, in fairness, qualified applicants will be accepted in the order their applications are received. The forms on the last two pages of this brochure should be used.

APPLICANTS

Applicants must be graduates of approved law schools. An applicant must submit a transcript of all college work completed and a statement of good standing from his college. The college must be accredited by the American Bar Association or have a good standing from the college. The college must be accredited by the Association of American Law Schools.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Full tuition scholarships are awarded to students from approved law schools.

SPECIAL EMPHASIS ON

The nature and sources of international law; there special emphasis on concepts of freedom of speech, regulation of mass communications, and the law of the European Community. Consideration will also be given to the concept of statehood and recognition; the law of the sea; the law of the United Nations; and the law of the European Community. Specific information will be furnished upon registration.
