THE COLLEGE OF
WILLIAM AND MARY
IN VIRGINIA

Marshall-Wythe School of Law
THE SUMMER SCHOOL OF LAW IN ENGLAND
ITS ORIGIN AND PURPOSE

The College of William and Mary in Virginia has had significant relationships with England throughout its history. The College was chartered in 1693 by the reigning sovereigns, William and Mary, whose name it bears. The College’s first building was constructed in 1695 from plans attributed to the renowned English architect, Sir Christopher Wren, builder of St. Paul’s Cathedral in London. Through the efforts of Thomas Jefferson, an alumnus of the College, a chair of Law and Police was established December 4, 1779, thus making William and Mary the first to offer instruction in law in the United States.

In more recent years the College’s continuing relationship with England and its educational institutions has been evidenced by an active student and faculty exchange program, and by establishment of the Summer School of Law in England in 1967 on the campus of the University of Exeter in Devonshire.

The William and Mary Summer School of Law in England was the first, and is still the most extensive American program of summer law study abroad. Consonant with the proud heritage of the College, the goal of the program is to provide law instruction in the finest tradition of liberal education. A broad, attractive curriculum is taught by a large faculty of British and American teachers, expert in their fields. Concurrently, the academic and social associations with British members of the legal profession and students from other countries, and the opportunity to learn of the legal, political and social practices of British society through living and travelling in England, provide a uniquely rich cultural experience for the American law student. Over one thousand future lawyers from virtually every accredited law school in the nation have attended the William and Mary Summer Law School in England. There they secured a decidedly broader “world view” of the law and their role as lawyers. This broadening of intellectual perspective is the hallmark of a liberal education, and the “alumni” of this program have carried that broadened perspective into the practice of law, business and politics. The Marshall-Wythe School of Law is proud of this unique educational service to the nation.

Distinguished members of the faculty of Exeter University School of Law agreed to teach some of the courses offered. The program has been further enriched by prominent speakers from the English Bench and Bar, as well as a clerking course with British firms.

CURRICULUM AND CREDITS

The Summer Law School in England, as an extension of the Williamsburg campus, is fully accredited. The 1987 program will consist of one five-week term with 8 courses. Class meetings and duration of classes will be in accordance with the requirements of the American Bar Association and the Association of American Law Schools. Regular class attendance will be expected. A maximum course load is six semester hours. Residence credit will be given commensurate with the number of semester hours credit carried. The Marshall-Wythe School of Law will give the same credits as if the course were being offered on the Williamsburg campus. Law schools having students at previous sessions have approved the transfer of credits for the courses taken by their students. It is urged, however, that registrants clear this matter with their Dean’s office at time of application to the program.

ACADEMIC NOTES

The law faculty of the University of Exeter established in 1972 the Centre for European Legal Studies primarily to coordinate teaching, research and training of practicing lawyers in European Economic Community law. Its broader objectives are to develop a systematic study of civil law, comparative and international law. It offers advanced work leading to the LL.M. degree, and its general program is expected to be systematically coordinated with the work of the Summer School of Law. The University of Exeter School of Law has pioneered in this area, and its courses have attracted wide attention from members of the British Bar.

Among the faculty members selected for the annual summer school of law are specialists in such subjects as international public and private law, international business transactions, civil law, and comparative law. Professor Dominik Lasok, Director of the Centre, is an internationally recognized authority on European law, having written some 100 articles on Comparative and International Law and European Community Law as well as several books in his field of expertise. He has been a visiting lecturer and visiting professor at various universities, including Vanderbilt, McGill, University of Michigan, William and Mary, Aix-Marseille and several others.
At the Boar’s Head Dinner

Professor David L. Perrott, a prolific writer with more than thirty articles to his credit, is an expert in the field of International Commercial Law as well as Sudanese personal property law. He has taught at several universities, including the University of Illinois, University of Connecticut, St. Louis University, McGeorge School of Law and University of Salzburg, Austria, and has been on the faculty of the University of Exeter since 1965. He has been consultant to the British Government and the Commission of the EC on proposed, and the workings of existing, commercial legislation.

Professor Peter A. Stone, on the faculty of the University of Exeter since 1969, has written numerous articles on topics such as patent licenses, conflict of laws and European community law. He is currently writing, jointly with Professor Lasoc, a book on “Private International Law in the European Community.”

Professor Peter G. Zureb has been a lecturer at the University of Exeter and at Ealing College of Higher Education, and practiced law in Malta. He is the co-founder and first chairman of the U.K. Company Law Society and the author of articles in the field of international law.

The legal clerking course affords the student an insight to the British practitioner’s daily routine in the various aspects of the practice, including research, client consultation and courtroom experience. Discussion of the legal issues involved in the cases being handled gives the student the benefit of the British approach to legal analysis.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF LAW IN ENGLAND

CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

Exeter is an attractive and ancient cathedral city only 12 miles from the beaches of the South Devon coast. The Cathedral is a superb example of the Decorated Gothic style (1280–1370), with Norman transept towers unique in England. The Guildhall dates from the Middle Ages having been rebuilt in 1330. Pubs, including one frequented by CharlesDickens, and inn abounds. Excellent theatre and music programs are available also. Various social and cultural activities are sponsored by the Summer Law School.

In Exeter, in Devonshire, and in the surrounding counties of South West England are many historic sites within short distances that date from Roman times (200 A.D.) through the Middle Ages, the Norman Conquest and the Elizabethan era.

Day trips by bus at reasonable rates are available to Dartmouth, Dartmoor, and other interesting sites in Devon. Weekend trips are also available to Penzance (Cornwall’s principal town), Bath, Tintagel Castle (believed to be King Arthur’s castle), St. Ives, and Stonehenge. Direct, fast train service to London is available several times daily. Classes are scheduled Monday through Thursday, thus three weekend days will be available for extended sightseeing trips.

ORGANIZED, but optional, tours are arranged by the program: on a Saturday a chartered bus trip to Plymouth, and on a Sunday a boat trip on the river Dart. A three-day weekend trip to London, affording a visit to the City and its historic, political, and legal sites, is also arranged on an optional basis. The cost of these trips is not included in the fees.

TRANSPORTATION

Applicants should make their own travel arrangements. Due to the constant changes in rates and flight shares, we no longer are able to advise students on this matter. Please make your own travel arrangements through your local travel agency.

LIVING FACILITIES

Modern dormitories, dining hall, and classrooms of Exeter's campus, as well as the law library of the University, are available for the program's use. Within brief walking distance of the Law School building is the Lafradwa residential complex used by the Summer School of Law in England. The Lafradwa complex is a recently constructed residence facility for single men and women and for married students and their families.

All rooms are single rooms. Couples and families are furnished two rooms, one to be used as a bedroom and the other as a living room. Families with children are furnished three or more rooms.

Each floor has kitchen and bathroom facilities used in common by residents. Linens and daily maid services are supplied. Coin operated washers and dryers are in the Lafradwa complex and dry cleaning facilities are within walking distance.

Meals are served cafeteria style. Room and board cannot be paid separately.

Tennis courts, a swimming pool, a student pub, a game room (modest for use of equipment), a television room, a student center with coin operated dry cleaning machines are available for the students' use. Students from England and from other countries also are on campus at Exeter during the summer.

A limited number of off-campus housing facilities are available. Though within walking distance of the University, they are modest by American standards but are low priced. Students must make arrangements for off-campus housing by corresponding directly with individual landlords. A list of off-campus housing is furnished registering students.
